18 Democrats Join 32 Republicans in Restoring Pensions to Many Spanish War Survivors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Sixty million dollars of economy act savings were voted back to veterans today by the senate at the same time President Roosevelt was sending a new warning to the house that he would veto the Patman bonus bill if it were passed.

A senate republican-democratic coalition, 51 to 40, put through an amendment by Senators Steiwer, republican, Oregon, and McCarran, democrat, Nevada, to restore to the rolls with 90 per cent of their former pensions, thousands of Spanish War veterans who were removed by the economy act provisions that they prove service connection for their disabilities.

President Roosevelt's renewed warning was put in unmistakable terms in a letter to Speaker Rainey.

The speaker declined to make the letter public but said that he might do so tomorrow. The letter was written to clear up any doubt as to what the president intended to do with the bonus bill and some house members construed this to mean that he might permit it to become a law without his approval. The bill comes to a vote in the house on March 12.

The senate vote loaded the pending independent offices bill with $73,000,000 more than the administration had agreed to accept on veterans and federal pay increases. Last week's voting added $180,000,000 to the next fiscal year for government workers as against $120,000,000 favored by democratic leaders and today's balloting favored the $300,000,000 proposal compared to a $300,000,000 plan brought in by the administration group.

Senator Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, for the administration had proposed giving the men 75 per cent of their former pension.

Eighteen Democratic Bolters. Eighteen democrats joined 32 republicans and shipboard, Minnesota farmer-laborer, for the more liberal Steiwer-McCarran proposition. All 40 votes in opposition came from the democratic side.

Pending at adjournment was another amendment by Steiwer which he estimated would cost about $55,000,000. This would restore to full compensation all World War veterans whose disabilities were presumed to have been service-connected but who were removed by the economy act. It also would require the government to

N. Y. Hospital Operates Horse-Sleigh Ambulance
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Bethel hospital, in Brooklyn, tonight substituted horse and sleigh for its motorized ambulance service because of the snow-packed streets in its district.

An old sleigh, which had not seen service for a quarter of a century, was brought out of the hospital garage, dusted off, and hitched behind a team of stout horses. Ambulance surgeons said they expected to make much better time in the sleigh than they had been making in the motor ambulances, which frequently have been stalled in snowdrifts.

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Lusty cheers were given for the imperial Hapsburg family, Chancellor Dollfuss and Prince von Starhemberg, heir-apparent, at a mass meeting tonight of monarchists who demanded the eventual restoration of the Austrian throne.

While they met rumors circulated that troops of the fascist heimwehr, or homeguard, were en route to the Swiss border to meet the Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austrian throne, and escort him triumphantly into Vienna.

Legitimist speakers tonight paid tribute to Dollfuss and Prince von Starhemberg's recent victory in a socialist uprising and called these gains

Backers Ready to Vote On St. Lawrence Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, reported to President Roosevelt today he was ready to fix a time for a vote on the St. Lawrence waterway pact and was "very hopeful of a favorable outcome."

The senator said the president was "very sympathetic" to the idea of an early settlement of the treaty fight and that as soon as the legislative situation worked out an attempt would be made to fix a date for a vote.

No dates were mentioned, but it is expected the treaty advocates will seek a decision in a week or ten days. I recognize it is a close situation, said the Wisconsin senator, "but I am very hopeful of a favorable outcome."

COUNCIL APPROVES AMENDED BUDGET; VETO IN PROSPECT

$106,000 Included Against Key's Wishes for Schools to Budget Against; $88,000 for Textbooks.

In one of the most tempestuous sessions of recent months, the Atlanta city council and the aldermanic board Monday afternoon attempted to compose differences between the James L. Key administrationists and a school bloc, but it was believed that the effort was made in vain. The two amendments to the 1934 budget, passed over the mayor's veto, comprised the compromise, but Mayor Key's veto of them was expected.

The first, offered by the finance committee, transferred $87,028.81 from interest accounts of the municipality to meet a 1932 schoolbook bill of the school department. In the original budget, the sum was taken from refunding bonds pledged to federal authorities for relief purposes, Key objecting to the use of the money in that manner.

The second amendment was offered by Councilman Joseph E. Betman and Alderman J. Sid Tiller and provided that schools would be allowed to budget against $106,000 of a $300,000 contingent fund. The $106,000 represents the 1933 deficit of the school department. This amendment is destined to form the basis of Key's veto, according to reports, since the mayor has served notice that he will not approve any budget contemplating budgeting against any of the $300,000 fund.

19 to 3 in Council. The fiscal measures were passed in council by a vote of 19 to 3 against, and in the aldermanic board by a vote of seven for five against.

Another key veto looms as the result of actions Monday, and when it reaches the executive offices, and that is a proposal to establish a pay unit, to be the Steiner cancer clinic by deeding the ground on which the clinic is located to a separate corporation. Under the plan, $250,000 is to be sought from PWA funds to construct a pay unit, and Atlanta will pay on a per diem basis for charity cases. The aldermanic board concurred in council's action Monday.

APPROVAL'S SEEN FOR COTTON BILL

Measure Modified to Allow Sales of 10,000,000 Bales Tax Free in 1934.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Modified to provide that 10,000,000 bales of cotton may be sold tax-free from the 1934 crop, the Brankehead compulsory cotton control bill tonight appeared likely to receive the approval tomorrow of the house agricultural committee.

As originally presented, the measure limited the sale of tax-free cotton from this year's crop to 9,000,000 bales. Later a new measure fixed it at 9,500,000. The change to 10,000,000 bales was made today at an executive session of the committee which also revised the proposed penalty tax from 75 per cent of the market value of the cotton to 50 per cent.

Changes Said Tentative. The changes were described by Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, as tentative pending the formal report of an executive session tomorrow at which other proposed amendments are to be considered before a vote on the bill as a whole is taken with President Roosevelt favoring the principle of the bill, which is designed to reduce existing large carry-over stocks, approval by the committee seems certain. However, there is considerable opposition in the house since the measure is to supplement the present voluntary production control program.

The agricultural committee made another change in the bill to allow Secretary Wallace to withhold 10 per cent of a state's allotment to provide for new lands, population shifts and other adjustments. Under the measure, each state is to receive a pro rata quota, based on previous production of the total production allowed. While the change will not alter a state's basic allotment, Jones said, it would give the secretary latitude in administering the measure.

Other Change. Still another change modified the levying of the tax to make it apply at the time of the sale of cotton instead of when it is ginned.

In line with a suggestion by Secretary Wallace, committee members from cotton producing states plan to label the bill as an "emergency measure" to enable a better defense if its constitutionality is attacked in the courts.

Representative Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, who with his brother, Senator Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, is co-author of the bill, said he was

Relief Work Speeded In Storm-Hit Areas

Seventeen Now Known Dead and 100 Injured in Southern Tornadoes; Blizzard in Eastern States Claims Lives of Six.

By the Associated Press. Rehabilitation workers in the Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi storm areas speeded efforts Monday in caring for the injured, providing homes for the homeless and restoring normal conditions disrupted during Sunday's terrific wind and rain.

Seventeen persons were killed and approximately 100 injured in the tornadoes. The dead: Mississippi: F. Carl Calvert, 43, Center Hill; Mrs. Annie Calvert, 35, Center Hill; four Calvert children, Annie, 10; Nettie, 14; George, 5; Helen Marie, 3; Center Hill; Curtis Bishop, Kewanee; Martin Brown, 48, Kewanee; Harold Harper, Route 3, Meridian; Henry Mathews, negro, Meridian; a negro at Kewanee. Alabama: The Rev. J. W. McCollum, High Pine; George Lynch, Millerville; Mrs. Nannie Kaiziah, 56, Calera.

Georgia: Mr. and Mrs. Will Phillips, of Carrollton. Louisiana: Albert Russell, 31, negro, New Orleans.

In Georgia, the Red Cross, augmented by CWA workers and volunteers, worked with dispatch in Henry and Carroll counties, where the fury of the storm was the greatest. Mr. and Mrs. Will Phillips, about 60 years old, were killed when their home was demolished near Carrollton. Stone J. Crane, special disaster representative of the Red Cross; Miss Lucille Morgan and Miss Mildred Patterson, of the state headquarters of the CWA, spent the day in the area. Miss Morgan supervised relief work at Hampton, while Miss Patterson took charge of similar duties in Carrollton.

CWA Workers Called. Mrs. Flora Pittman, CWA administrator for Henry county, was instructed to use CWA workers in clearing wreckage in that section. At Bowdon, Ga., City Clerk E. C. Burns said practically every business house had been unroofed, and small residences burned and at least half a dozen other dwellings demolished. Wires were strewn in tangled masses, and debris littered the streets. Only one person, out of the many injured, was hurt severely enough to require hospital treatment.

Damage at Americus, Ga., was unofficially estimated at $20,000, following heavy winds and rains, and some barns and farm houses near Valdosta were damaged but no injuries were reported.

ATLANTA MERCURY ATLANTA MAN, 70, WILL DROP TO 12 KILLED BY TAXICAB

Bitter Weather to Follow Tornado; Entire South in Grip of Cold Wave.

A cold wave that followed in the wake of Sunday's wind and rainstorm will arrive here in full force this morning with a minimum temperature of 12 degrees, the weather bureau predicted Monday. The day will be fair, but the mercury is not expected to rise above 32 degrees.

Biting cold with below-freezing temperatures moved in on the entire south Monday night after tornadoes and rainstorms had left a toll of 17 known dead and approximately 100 injured in seven southern states.

The cold was expected to range from 8 degrees above zero in the Carolinas, where industry in many places was at a standstill because of power failures, to around freezing in Mississippi, where the storms took the greatest toll in lives with 12 dead. Sunday at midnight the temperature here was 50 degrees. It had dropped to 28 at noon and at 6 o'clock stood at 30, or two degrees below freezing. Everything was favorable to a swift descent of the mercury, inland as an Atlanta newspaperman, coming in from the northwest where zero and below-zero temperatures prevailed Monday.

Quick Drops Reported. The force of the cold will be felt over the state and particularly in north Georgia. Quick drops in temperature were reported from all over the south. At Birmingham the temperature was 28 at 6 o'clock.

Seabrook, Author, Is Sued for Divorce On Roosevelt Platform

Mrs. Kate Edmondson Seabrook, of 31 Peachtree place, N. E., filed suit in Fulton superior court Monday against William Buehler Seabrook, noted travel-writer, who formerly was an Atlanta newspaperman. Mrs. Seabrook charges that her husband deserted her in Paris in 1930, and gives his present address as 1930, Roosevelt, France.

Seabrook became a reporter on the New York Times in 1917 and afterward had a rapid rise to fame through his first book, published after a sojourn as a member of an Arabian tribe of Bedouins. Since the publication of his first work he has written numerous books and magazine articles dealing with remote spots on the globe. Mrs. Seabrook has also published a book based upon her foreign travels.

10 PERSONS KILLED AS TRAIN CRASHES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Crack Flier Plunges Through Bridge Into Underpass in Pittsburgh; Many Injured.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—(UP)—At least 10 persons were known killed when a fast Pennsylvania railroad passenger train was wrecked near the Federal street station here tonight.

The engine plunged through a bridge into an underpass, piling steel and iron wreckage in the street below it. Five cars piled over the engine, one of them crashing into a chewing gum plant, ripping off a corner.

Two of the dead were identified at the morgue here as David A. Ducharme, 50, past grand master of the Knights of Columbus, of Ansonia, Conn., and Clarence J. Mayer, of Ingram, Pa.

Three other unidentified bodies lay in the morgue. At least five others were known dead.

The engineer and fireman, first feared killed under the mass of debris in the street below, were discovered among the injured in Allegheny General hospital.

The train was less than a mile from the main Pennsylvania station when the wreck occurred. Apparently the engine struck a split rail on a slight downgrade bordering West Park, on the north side.

C. S. Thompson, of Erie, Ind., who was riding in the combination car near the engine, said he and his fellow passengers had been alarmed by the train's lurching only a minute before the crash.

The rescued were disoriented further by a heavy snow that covered the section. Some of them were forced to trudge through ankle deep snow, and others were helped by men who took them to hospitals for first aid. The more seriously injured were hurried away in ambulances, which were concentrated at the scene immediately after the crash.

The train was en route from Akron to New York.

The escape of the engineer and fireman, who were killed, was a miracle. The engine struck a split rail on a slight downgrade bordering West Park, on the north side.

$100,000 SALARIES REMAIN COMMON

Million-Dollar Bonuses Eliminated, Remuneration Remains Ample.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Some of America's big businessmen were shown by the federal trade commission today to have received yearly salaries and bonuses ranging from a mere $10,000 to more than a million and a half, with payments running well over $100,000 by no means unusual during the years from 1928 to 1933 inclusive.

The figures, disclosed in a survey made at the request of the senate, covered about 900 companies which filed in a questionnaire sent by the commission.

The commission reported today that General Motors, Studebaker, American Can and General Electric Corporation had challenged its right to the data. If the senate orders it to do so, the commission indicated in its report, it is ready to attempt to force the companies to provide the data sought.

Bonuses, jumping to more than a million and a half in 1929 in the case of Eugene R. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, were generally absent by 1932, although there were instances in some cases. Salaries, however, seldom more than $100,000 in 1929, had been reduced in virtually every instance, and most bonuses were eliminated.

Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines Corporation, received a salary of $60,000 in both 1929 and 1932, but his bonus increased from $28,106 to $304,015.

Other big compensations in 1929, $270,000 to R. L. Patterson, president of the American Machine and Foundry Company; more than $400,000 to George B. Everett, president of Montgomery Ward & Co.; $420,000 to R. Bentscher, president of United Aircraft and Transport Corporation.

The three Warner brothers, head of the motion picture concern bearing their name, were paid $100,000 a week for six years, plus 90,000 shares of stock; two executives of General Electric Company—Fred Hirschhorn and Richard C. Bondy—divided equally nearly $500,000.

The income of Archibald R. Graustein, of International Paper & Power Co., whose $80,000 in 1929 grew to $104,000 by 1932.

American Tobacco Company payments to five principal officials ran to nearly $15,000,000.

One of the largest outright salaries was to Andrew G. Pierce, president

MENARD ISLAND FEDERAL PRISON, Wash., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Saved from taking the pauper's oath by promises of payment of a $10,000 fine, Ralph Capone peeled his last potatoes in the federal penitentiary here today, and cleaned up his cell for the last time.

Sentenced June 16, 1930, to serve three years for evasion of income taxes totaling around $300,000, Ralph, the brother of "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gang chief, became a "model prisoner" and his sentence was cut for good behavior.

He will be released tomorrow, the Associated Press learning from reliable, unofficial sources that his fine will be paid. If it is not paid, he would have to take the pauper's oath, swearing he has no property and then serve 30 days more.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO EDWARD STOW; LAST RITES TODAY

Secretary of Constitution Publishing Company Had Been With Newspaper for 28 Years.

Edward Stow, secretary of The Constitution Publishing Company and auditor of this newspaper, died unexpectedly at 4 o'clock Monday morning at his residence, 881 Myrtle street, N. E. A heart attack following a brief illness during which pneumonia developed, was the cause of death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Stow left his office in The Constitution building Friday afternoon at the usual time. He developed influenza, a cold and a cough at home. Pneumonia resulted Sunday and his heart, weakened by a serious illness about a year ago, when he was confined to his bed for several weeks, failed.

The funeral services will be conducted at Spring Hill this afternoon by the Rev. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Stow had been a member for many years, and the Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

Palbearers will be W. R. Heston, H. H. Trotter, Howard Haire, R. W. Finley, A. J. Kaiser, W. C. Wynne, J. T. Toler and P. A. Erwin. Born at Macon.

Mr. Stow was born at Macon, Ga., the son of Edward Stow and Rabun Reathel Stow. In 1892 he married Miss Sadie Babcock, daughter of Dr. W. H. Babcock, of Jacksonville, Fla., who survives him. He also leaves one daughter, Mrs. Edgar Brantley, of Atlanta.

Mr. Stow attended school in Macon and Eufrata, Ala., and his first business experience was with the Southern Express Company, at Albany, Ga. He left Albany for Greenville, S. C., where he took a position with the American Cotton Oil Company and with which concern he stayed for several years, leaving there for American Oil Company, at Jacksonville, Fla., where he took a position with the Kentucky Oil & Refining Company.

While with that company, he was transferred to Atlanta and through his friendship with Hoby Robinson, then business manager of The Constitution, he entered the employ of the newspaper, where he served during the last 28 years of his life.

Mr. Stow, in addition to being secretary of the corporation and auditor, also handled the duties of purchasing agent, credit manager and office manager. During his long service he enjoyed the full confidence of the management and was one of its most trusted employees and executives. He was known for his absolute trustworthiness and reliability and could LORAIN, Ohio, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant Albert J. Harmon, of the Michigan national guard, flying from Cleveland to Detroit, late today plunged to his death on the ice of Lake Erie, one mile east of here.

Lieutenant Harmon was identified by papers found on his body. He had attempted to bail out of the plane and the parachute failed to open. Coast guardsmen said.

FORCED INTO AUTO, CARRIED 8 MILES, MAN TELLS POLICE

J.E. Barr Jr. Walks Eight Miles to Police Station, Reports Loss of $3.50 to Quartet of Daring Daylight Abductors.

White abduction-bandits who have been operating for more than two weeks and who perpetrated their most daring crime Monday noon when they kidnaped a man near Five Points, and released him a mile north of Buckhead after he convinced them that he was unable to raise a ransom, were imitated Monday night by three negroes who took two white men from a "ride" before selecting a dark place in which to rob them.

TWO MEN IN CAR ROBBED BY TRIO

Pair Identified in Burglaries at Homes of William Candler, Mrs. Lowenstein and Two Others.

The victim of the daylight kidnaping was J. E. Barr Jr., of 128 East Lake drive, who was robbed by four kidnapers who took $3.50, several keys and several photographs.

The two men abducted Monday night were J. D. Webb, of 500 Parkway drive, night manager of the Crivello Pic Company, of 455 Peachtree street, and his brother-in-law, Norman Flanagan.

Webb said that he had been having difficulty in starting his car, and that Flanagan came out of the house to help him. Their combined efforts were unavailing, and three negroes who came along volunteered to help, he said. The negroes succeeded in starting the car, and then, at the point of a gun, forced Webb and Flanagan into the car and drove on Peachtree street to Bedford, where street they drove to a dark spot between Meritts and Linden, where Webb was relieved of 75 cents and his auto and house keys and Flanagan was robbed of 60 cents.

Two Burglars Identified. While Barr was in custody of the bandits the police announced the two men under arrest had been identified in connection with the Trammell Scott robbery, one of them confessing a long series of crimes, including the Lowenstein and Candler robberies, which have puzzled detectives for some time.

Barr appeared at police headquarters late Monday afternoon. He said he had walked all the way from a mile north of Buckhead, where the kidnap bandits had freed him after robbing him of his money.

Barr said he came downtown on a street car about noon and started for the Hurt building. He said he passed the bandits in a car parked near the corner of Edgewood and Pryor.

"One of the men got out of the car, put a pistol in my side and ordered me to get into the auto," Barr related. "I tried to attract the attention of some people on the corner, but failed and there was nothing to do but follow orders."

Barr said the bandits then drove him down to Ivy street, out Ivy to Peachtree and north on Peachtree until they reached a spot on Peachtree road where there was no traffic.

"One of the men asked me what my father was worth, and I told him he was only an ordinary man with $3.50," Barr said. "He then went through my pockets and took

Here Is New Strength for the Weak; Rich, Red Blood for the Anaemic and Firm, Solid Flesh for Skinny Folks!

... and now comes the astounding discovery from clinical tests, that COPPER, in combination with iron and yeast vitamins, possesses remarkable power to purify the blood, cleanse the system, revitalize worn-out energy, aid digestion and build body weight.

This combination of yeast, iron and copper, known as THOR'S VITAMIN COMPOUND, is already bringing renewed health, energy and vitality to thousands of pale, scrawny, under-nourished people. ... and you need no longer drag through life like a sick kitten, tired all the time, pale, anaemic and headachy with impure blood, constipation, bad complexion, nervous and cross when this newest discovery offers such genuine, positive relief.

Old-time methods, long-drawn-out treatments, have given way to THOR'S VITAMIN COMPOUND, which accomplishes in days what the old methods couldn't do in dit instead of being a bandit's victim," Barr said.

Detectives Taylor and Martin were given a fairly good description of all four men and immediately launched an investigation.

Two white men, one with a pistol, entered Langford's store on Powers Ferry road late Monday night and while the one holding the gun held a clerk at bay, the other took a quantity of cigarettes and filled the tank of his car with gasoline. They were frightened away by the arrival of a woman customer, county police said.

Four Burglaries Admitted. Identification of Edward Verville, former soldier, and William A. Rogers, 22, of Haystack, N. C., alleged army deserter, as the bandits who robbed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trammell Scott last Christmas eve was reported Monday afternoon by police.

Detectives Woodruff and Hildebrand said Rogers verbally admitted the holdups in which Verville said he was implicated and stated they expect a written confession from Rogers some time today.

Burglaries admitted by Verville included the homes of William Candler, Mrs. Frank Lowenstein and R. H. White, police said. Verville recently was held for the DeKalb grand jury with bond set at $2,000.

As police completed their investigation of the Verville-Rogers activities, it was announced that search for the abduction bandits who have terrorized motorists was proceeding with the possibility of additional arrests in the near future. Approximately 12 persons are already in custody either as definite suspects or to be held for questioning and possible identification.

Rogers Arrested at Home.

Rogers was arrested at a home on McDonough boulevard by Detectives J. T. Woodruff and E. I. Hildebrand, who reported finding a note book which listed the homes of William Candler, Trammell Scott and R. H. White, already robbed, and, in addition, the home of Robert F. Maddox.

Rogers and Verville were identified by Mr. and Mrs. Scott and their seven-year-old daughter as the two bandits who raided the Scott home and held up Mrs. Scott while Major Scott was playing the car in the garage, it was said. Mr. and Mrs. Candler identified as their own a quantity of jewelry found in Rogers' possession, police said. Other jewelry found by police is unidentified and persons who have been robbed are invited to look over the property, police announced.

In his confession, Verville named Rogers as his accomplice in the second robbery of the Candler home, but claimed that Rogers pulled the first job by himself, police said. Verville said that both men robbed the Lowenstein and White homes, police said.

Police Monday were planning for additional line-ups in which recent victims of bandits will view the suspects held in the police station. The latest victims of bandit rides include: A. C. Tuck, of 614 Bonaventure avenue, and A. C. Baker, of 682 Tumlin street, who were held up Sunday.

$400 Taken From Safe. Burglars who entered the Jacobs' Pharmacy at 100 Peachtree street Sunday night and knocked the com-and other goods from a grocery store at 307 Spring street, according to police reports.

Gun Shooters Fined. Although they put up the defense that Chief Sturdivant "has advised citizens to go armed against bandits," two men were fined $12 each Monday afternoon by Recorder A. W. Callaway in police court when they appeared on disorderly conduct charges involving the alleged shooting of a gun Sunday night on Peters street. The two defendants, John McLaughlin, 38, of 1442 Lucile avenue, and G. O. Mosses, 22, of 740 Lawton street, claimed that they had the gun for protection, and that when they saw some negroes acting suspiciously as if they were intending a holdup, the gun was fired to scare the negroes away. The two men were arrested by Patrolmen E. C. Hudson and George B. Lee, who said that two shots were fired.

a prelude to the reinstallation of a monarch.

As an immediate and preliminary step in that direction orators demanded the revocation of laws banishing the Hapsburgs and confiscating their property.

Chancellor Dollfus did not attend the meeting, but sent a message of encouragement.

The applause the mention of his name drew among the several thousand monarchists was in striking contrast to the sullen silence of Vienna street crowds this afternoon.

Then Otto Kemptner—a former private secretary who is now leader of military organizations in the fatherland front—delivered an impassioned eulogy of the little chancellor, calling him "the great Austrian chancellor God has given us, and one whose blood has shown us the way to a new future."

The fact that Prince Von Starheim-

berg personally was present tonight and was warmly praised by a speaker was viewed by many as an indication that the legitimists may be willing to accept him as a regent pending what they hope will be the enthronement of Archduke Otto, of Hapsburg.

The tramping of feet of marching fascist troops drummed out numerous rumors tonight.

One rumor said 40,000 heimwehr men were on the way to guard the Austro-German border. This was not substantiated. The government and the heimwehr headquarters took turns denying all such rumors. All that could be certified was that heimwehr organizations were being shifted in all directions in the nation.

CZECHO-SLOVAK TROOPS MASSING ON BORDER

LINZ, Upper Austria, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Travelers from Budweis, in Czechoslovakia, tonight reported intensive movements of the Czechoslovak army to the Austrian and German frontiers.

Unconfirmed reports persisted that the Austrian nazi legion in Bavaria intends to attempt a surprise attack into Austria across the southwest corner of Czechoslovakia.

The Czechoslovakian government also was reported expecting the imminent return of former Archduke Otto, to assume the throne of Austria.

Czechoslovakia is prepared to invade Austria the moment such a violation of the peace treaties occurs, the travelers from this rumor-filled area reported.

Meanwhile, for unexplained reasons, 2,000 of a detachment of 6,000 schutzcorps recently deployed along the Austro-Bavarian frontier were transferred suddenly Monday to the Austro-Czech border.

For days Linz has witnessed the heavy transport of troops to the frontier from Vienna and Burgenland. Authorities sought to minimize these movements. An official communique broadcast over the radio in Vienna tonight said that "these schutzcorps concentrations are unimportant."

Atlanta's City Directory for 1934 Shows 13,296 Gain in Total Names

A new book is out, with a greater barrage of words than "Anthony Adverse." It is a non-fiction volume, representing laborious collaboration on the part of many authors, and has a cast of characters limited only by the adult population of metropolitan Atlanta. Ah, yes, the 1934 Atlanta city directory.

The new directory reflects in its own peculiar ways progress and changes under the new deal. And all in all, a bigger and better city is revealed. How?

Atlanta apparently has more people and a greater diversity of activities, and has put so many of its citizens back to work within the past year that it has affected the compilation of the directory.

Although the publishers do not actually estimate the present population of the city, they explained that, covering the same area as usual and maintaining the same minimum age for listing eligibility, eighteen, this directory contains more names by 7,152 than any previous edition of this annual publication. The records of the Atlanta City Directory Company show that for the last five years the number of names in the directory has been as follows:

|      |         |
|------|---------|
| 1930 | 164,352 |
| 1931 | 171,496 |
| 1932 | 167,592 |
| 1933 | 165,352 |
| 1934 | 178,548 |

Thus, it would seem that the trend of Atlanta's population has been upward since the 1930 United States census, and if there has been an increase of 14,000 names over 18 years of age since 1930, it is only reasonable to suppose that the total population has increased proportionately.

Another earmark of better times is shown in the increase of varieties of business and professional enterprises located here, from 718 a year ago, to 720. The margin of gain is narrow, but it is a gain.

The publishers report notably longer pay roll rosters received from Atlanta industries for insertion in the directory than for the past three years. "The number of employees in many places was double that of a year previous," the publishers said.

The industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has prefaced this edition of the directory with a statistical study of the city, illustrated by numerous charts, graphs and pictures. This undoubtedly will prove useful to students of Atlanta economics, as well as to general reference users of this book here and in distant directory libraries.

"New Deal" Names. Other footprints of the Roosevelt regime appearing in the directory are the Blue Eagle Cleaners, the New Deal Drug Store, the Prosperity Cleaners, and The Nira, a restaurant. Private business names for these watch-words of the administration are now widespread in the country, according to the directory publishers. Abbie E. Aaron and Nathan Zwick are alpha and omega in the new Atlanta roll call that includes such picturesque cognomens as John Turpen-tine, Buster Booser, John Law, Abel Cain, Robinson Crusoe, William Shakespeare, Ruby Stone, Georgia Pagan, Roosevelt Outlaw, Equator Peck and J. Bird, Atlanta's other "mayor." City Head, is on the roster as usual.

The surnames embrace two Souls, as well as Joy, Sorrow, Faith, Hope, Love, Honour and Character. There is in this wide city only one Dry, while the repeal names are legion. These latter include Beers, Bock, Brewer, Case, Light, Dark, Stout, Porter, Glass, Stein, Shell, Seidel, Still, Place, Rye, Port, Alewine, Sherry, Corn, Moon and Shine.

COMING OF BALLET ATTRACTS INTEREST AMONG ATLANTANS

The Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, the beautiful and thrilling spectacle which will be seen at the city auditorium Thursday night, is attracting more interest than any attraction ever presented in Atlanta under the auspices of the All-Star Concert Series. Marvin McDonald, manager, said Monday. Sold-out houses have greeted this brilliant ballet, the first Russian ballet to visit America in 18 years, in St. Louis and Detroit, during the last week, and indications point to the fact that the S. R. O. sign will be on display at the auditorium Thursday night. Already more than 4,000 tickets, including all of those which sold at $2.50, have been purchased.

Not only is the Ballet Russe attracting the largest audience of the season, but the interest expressed is from a much wider territory. Atlanta is the only city in this section in which the ballet will appear, and numerous dance enthusiasts from Birmingham, Montgomery, Chattanooga, Valdosta, Spartanburg, Columbus and other cities within a radius of 250 miles have made arrangements to attend this outstanding attraction.

The Monte Carlo Ballet Russe was acclaimed by the New York press as one of the most colorful and artistic ballets ever seen in America, and their seven-week engagement at the St. James theater was nothing short of a triumph.

Q. S. S. COOKING SCHOOL OPENS THIS MORNING AT THE GEORGIA

FOUR-DAY SESSION FULL OF NOVELTY FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Miss Viola Decker, Director, to Open Lecture at 9 O'Clock, Doors Open at 8.

Atlanta women will be sharpening their pencils this morning and getting out their note books, and making arrangements for grandma to keep junior.

For the Quality Service Stores cooking school and food institute opens here this morning in the Georgia theater, as every woman knows who has been reading this newspaper, riding the street cars or who have seen the large floor-to-ceiling electric sign on top of the building at Peachtree and Pryor streets.

The first session of this big four-day free event for the women of Atlanta and community will start at 9 a. m. today, and it is expected that every seat in the big theater will be filled. The Georgia theater, chosen because it is the most spacious and convenient in Atlanta available for an event of this kind.

New and unusual features make this Quality Service Stores cooking school one of the most outstanding undertakings of its kind. The awards and gifts run into a value of hundreds of dollars, and include grand awards on the final day in addition to scores of baskets of food and special food gifts.

Viola Decker, home economics expert, of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company, will start her lecture promptly at 9 o'clock, and the doors of the theater will be thrown open at 8 o'clock so that everyone will have time to get seated. A music program will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Scores of national food manufacturers will co-operate and their food products will be displayed on the large stage. Miss Decker will give a fascinating history of the foods served on Atlanta tables.

Lecturer Has Wit. No woman need worry about being able to see or hear Miss Decker during her lectures and demonstrations. A model up-to-date, all-electric kitchen has been erected on the center of the stage, much of the equipment of which will be given away Friday at the final session.

Moreover Miss Decker is accustomed to speaking to audiences of several thousand persons, and she is easily understood. She never fails to hold the attention of her listeners while on the platform. The utter simplicity and ease of her lessons, and practiced skill which she possesses in the most delectable dishes, all the while explaining her methods to the women watching her make the minutes fly.

In addition, Miss Decker is sincere and friendly dignity, sparkling wit and keen sense of humor, and her cheerful philosophy of life, make those in her audience her instant friends.

Every piece of information Miss Decker gives is backed by science and experience. She is a member of the staff of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company home economics department, whose food research and educational work are of the highest character.

Resources Are Vast. The resources of the companies which are united in presenting the Quality Service Stores cooking school and food institute, amount to a vast total.

No expense has been spared to present an event from which women will receive the greatest benefit and pleasure. One of them will long recall.

The women of Atlanta and surrounding territory are urged not to miss the opportunity attending this big four-day free event.

EDUCATORS INDORSE ROOSEVELT'S POLICIES. CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—(AP)—With their leaders declaring President Roosevelt's new deal program has wholehearted support from the nation's school teachers, the National Education Association today began general sessions of their national convention.

One of the most outspoken on the subject was Paul H. Stetson, of Indianapolis, president of the convention organization, the National Education Association's department of superintendence.

"We're solidly behind the president," he said, adding that while the statement may seem broad, he is certain of its accuracy.

Another speaker, Dr. George F. Zook, United States commissioner of education, stressed the need of bringing the schools into closer touch with the economic, social and political life of the day, and recommended giving an increased place in the school program to adults.

"In no more, than one country," he said, "democratic government has been supplanted by some form of centralized action simply because popular intelligence and the spirit of unity are insufficient to enable the people to realize their hopes and aspirations through their own decisions."

"We in America cannot hope to escape the same fate unless we take the necessary measures for widespread education of adults in present-day problems."

46 Persons Accused In Closed Bank Probe. NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Two presidents and 44 officers, directors and employees of two defunct New Orleans banks were charged today with accepting deposits after they knew their firms were insolvent.

Each of the banking officials was charged in seven specific bills. The two bank presidents, James J. A. Forster, president of the Continental Bank & Trust Company, and Lynn H. Dinkins, president of the Interstate Bank & Trust Company, were placed under bonds of $5,000 each on the first charge, and $1,000 each on each of the subsequent charges.

Bonds for the others were set at $1,000 in the first count and $500 each on the subsequent charges.

Twenty-six persons connected with the Interstate bank and 18 persons connected with the Continental bank were named in the charges, in addition to the two presidents.

HOPKINS OPPOSES RELIEF SCHOOL AID

Administrator Favors Direct Appropriation for Educational Needs.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The use of relief funds for school aid was opposed before the house education committee today by Harry L. Hopkins, CWA administrator.

"I do not believe relief should have anything to do with schools," Hopkins told the committee at its hearing on a number of proposals for education relief this term and next year. He opposed particularly a measure by Representative Collins, democrat, Mississippi, to make $50,000,000 of civil works funds available for schools between now and June 30.

The administrator said relief funds so far had been used to give unemployed relief to teachers and not to keep schools open. He said from 15,000 to 20,000 teachers already were on CWA rolls.

"Relief to schools," Hopkins added, "should be a direct appropriation on the merits of need. We need all of the $50,000,000 allowed us for the specific purposes for which it was appropriated."

He said teachers on relief rolls draw between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a month, and that by July 1, $25,000,000, including student loans, will have been spent in aiding education.

James J. Richmond, Kentucky schools superintendent and chairman of the national committee for federal emergency aid for education, gave six aims of his committee: $50,000,000 for the remainder of this school year; $100,000,000 for 1934-35; liquidation of school debts; legislation to permit schools to borrow on their assets; increased school building under the public works administration; aid to needy college students.

EDUCATORS DISCUSS FEDERAL SCHOOL AID. CLEVELAND, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The question of how much financial help the nation's schools may be able to get from the federal government was the prime subject of conversation today for thousands of school superintendents.

Sums as high as half a billion dollars were discussed informally by delegates to the convention of the National Education Association's department of superintendence, while in Washington the house education committee prepared to start general hearings on a host of proposals for school aid.

Work Starts in April On Tri-State Road. The state highway board will let a contract about April 15 for the paving of the eight-mile Georgia section of the Tri-State highway which cuts across the northwestern section of Alabama county, Chairman W. Eugene Wilburn, of the highway board, announced Monday.

The road, which runs from North Carolina through Georgia and into South Carolina, is considered one of the most important in the state. The other half will be paid by the federal government, for capital expenditures on the part of industry.

14,000 CWA Workers Lose Jobs This Week. The second revision of county CWA quotas in Georgia within 10 days was being made Monday in order to lop off 14,000 of the state's 55,000 workers.

Miss Louise Fitzsimmons, acting state administrator in the absence of Miss Gay H. Shepperson, who is in Washington, said that the new quotas would be furnished county administrators late this week. They are effective on Saturday, March 2, the beginning of the CWA week.

The acting administrator said that the reductions would be chiefly confined to rural areas. The orders for reduction were issued in Washington Saturday night by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

The CWA Sunday and Monday joined with other forces in an effort to eliminate suffering and distress following the tornadoes over Georgia Sunday afternoon. Special representatives went to Carrollton, Hampton and McDonough to direct the relief work. Miss Fitzsimmons said.

U. S. PURCHASES STOCK IN ATLANTA LOAN BANK. The Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association through J. L. R. Boyd, its secretary, announced Monday that the United States treasury had subscribed $10,000 for 1,000 shares of stock of the association.

This, it was announced, was the first subscription of its kind in the south to a converted building and loan association operating under a federal charter as a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank system.

The Fulton Federal Savings and Loan Association is the only other Atlanta association similarly chartered. It also will ask the treasury for a stock subscription. Other building and loan associations are members of the bank system, but have not yet taken steps to operate under a federal charter.

History and Growth of Q. S. S. And List of Members Given

The Quality Service Stores organization is really a combination of two agencies—the Quality Service Stores, which handles the advertising, and the Atlanta Savings Stores, which represent the warehouse from which the merchandise is distributed. M. Blank is president of the organization.

A complete list of officers, committee members, and members appears below.

Some idea of the expansion of this business is given in the statement that the warehouse in 1933 turned over a volume of $2,000,000 in sales. The volume of the store sales was many times that figure.

The Atlanta Savings Stores were organized in October, 1928, by a handful of grocers with the idea of serving housewives economically. This would be done through co-operative buying, affording the consumers comparative prices at independent stores. In 1929 the stores were chartered with 50 members.

Since then they have enjoyed continuous growth, giving their customers the benefit of low prices made possible by pool buying. A warehouse was needed to store the large amount of merchandise ordered. The initial unit contained 1,500 square feet. In the latter part of 1929 this space was outgrown and 10,000 feet were required.

Merger Is Made. At this time the Atlanta Savings Stores were only buying, not advertising. Organized on November 15, 1930, as a separate corporation, Q. S. S. was merged with the Savings Stores for buying and advertising. The merger then had 150 stores enrolled.

The Savings Stores furnished merchandise to the members at cost plus the expense of handling, and the individual merchants passed on the savings in the form of low prices to their customers.

After the merger, the volume of business increased so rapidly that larger warehouse space became necessary, and the merged company moved to its present location at 355-7 Whitehall street, where there are 40,000 square feet of floor space. Today the organization has 196 members in Greater Atlanta. Plans for 1934 call for 100 members, and it is also planned to build the company's own home for produce and other products.

The business has now spread to a radius of 75 miles of Atlanta. M. W. Bullard, 631 Hemphill avenue, N. E., is president. S. E. E. Harris, 297 Angier street, N. E., is secretary. Max Feldman, 142 Ashby street, S. W., is treasurer. S. E. E. Harris, 297 Angier street, N. E., is secretary. Max Feldman, 142 Ashby street, S. W., is treasurer. S. E. E. Harris, 297 Angier street, N. ## MANGHAM IS GIVEN REHEARING IN CASE

Supreme Court Vacates Former Stand; Pressing of Issue Unlikely.

The state supreme court Monday reopened the J. J. Mangham-J. W. Barnett litigation over Mangham's right to the appointment of chairman of the state highway board, a post he already has resigned, by vacating its judgment of several months ago which ordered a new trial in the Buchanan superior court, where the outer proceedings had been tried before a jury.

The court did not substitute any new opinion in the case but pointed out that it was not a distress case, which means that it will have to be set down for reargument at the next term of court.

The action followed Governor Eugene Talmadge's removal of Captain Barnett as highway board chairman last summer and the appointment of Mangham in his stead. Mangham, however, since has resigned and the chairmanship has been given to W. Eugene Wilburn, middle Georgia board representative, who was named to the commission when J. P. Wilhoit was appointed chairman of the public service commission. There is no contest surrounding the status of Wilburn.

Whether or not the order of the supreme court vacating its previous decision was in answer to the appeal of Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans and others who represented Mangham and had sought a rehearing could not be determined Monday, despite the fact that the vacating of the decision of December actually will result in the rehearing sought by Mangham's counsel on the ground that only four of the six justices participated in the decision, whereas the Mangham counsel insisted that six justices should have participated.

Captain Barnett's counsel, it is understood, never have opposed the motion for a rehearing and there was some doubt as to whether or not they would even appear to press their appeal. Captain Barnett now is connected with the federal geological survey project being conducted under the auspices of the civil works administration and his attorneys said they had no statement to make.

It is generally admitted by Captain Barnett's friends that he neither hopes nor desires to return to the highway department during the Talmadge administration so the ultimate effect of the supreme court's decision on the case probably will have no effect in the administration of highway department affairs. Mangham also being gone, it appeared doubtful Monday if the issue would be pressed further, although to all outward signs the counsel for Mangham represented that they were preparing for a court fight to a finish. However, there being nothing at stake, it appeared unlikely that the attorneys would use their time on the case and ask the court to use its time.

YUNDT, MIX ADVANCED BY SOUTHERN BELL CO.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Bell Telephone Company Monday, George J. Yundt was elected vice president and treasurer and A. E. Mix was elected secretary of the company. All other officers were re-elected.

Mr. Yundt, formerly secretary and treasurer of the company, is one of the best-known telephone officials in Atlanta. He has been with the company 35 years and has resided in Atlanta continuously.

Mr. Mix, who becomes secretary, has been prominently connected with the Bell system for 30 years and has been associated with the general executive office in Atlanta during the past ten years. He is widely known in telephone circles throughout the country.

3 BANKS WILL AID U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Establishment of three banks to aid in expanding American foreign trade, which was announced by George N. Peek, was announced at the White House tonight after a more than two-hour conference between President Roosevelt and his chief trade and tariff advisors.

In addition to the import-export bank of Washington, capitalized at $11,000,000 for trade with Russia, which was announced two weeks ago, two additional trade expansion and credit providing banks for trade with Cuba and other foreign countries will be organized.

Peek, former farm administrator and foreign trade advisor to the president, announced his acceptance of the presidency of the banks at the conclusion of the meeting.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will provide funds for the banks. The amount of capitalization of the banks for trade and other foreign countries was not announced.

In a formal statement tonight, Peek emphasized that the banks were established to provide credit facilities not now obtainable through regular banking channels, for financing the seller.

In announcing the establishment of the bank for trade with Russia, it was made plain that the government would be in granting of credit to American exporters and manufacturers with contracts for products to be sold to soviet Russia.

A board of directors for the bank for Russian trade was elected shortly after its establishment and it is understood that the same directors will serve as the board of directors of the other two banks.

Temporary offices of the banks are expected to be set up in Reconstruction Finance Corporation headquarters.

Designed as a general round-table discussion of American foreign trade problems and consideration of plans for recouping the large losses sustained in foreign trade during recent depression years, the meeting at the White House was understood to have been devoted largely to consideration of the Peek bank plan and a subsidiary discussion of tariff problems.

To explore thoroughly any of the ideas, plans and suggestions designed to expand foreign trade, the president called in Secretaries Hull and Wallace, Assistant Secretary of State Sayre, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Commerce Dickinson, Harry Payer, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Doctor Herbert Feis, economic advisor of the state department.

TENNESSEE EXECUTES NEGRO MURDERER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 26.—(AP) Louis Fain, 25-year-old negro who was convicted of attacking and slaying Miss Carrie Allen, Knoxville cafeteria cashier, was electrocuted at the state penitentiary at 5:22 o'clock this morning.

Fain, who was sentenced to death November 28, 1932, in Knox county criminal court, signed a statement not long before he was put to death in which he confessed his guilt of the crime and asked for forgiveness of those who hate him.

DEBATE ON RELIGION IS RAPPED BY GASQUE

Dr. G. W. Gasque, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, said in a sermon Sunday night that it seemed to him that Almes Semple McPherson and Charles Lee Smith, atheist, "have locked arms and are touring the country for what admission fees they may be able to collect to replenish a depleted treasury."

"If that's their racket," he said, "may God have mercy on their souls." He urged the need of a moral awakening.

MISS DECKER HAS THREE RULES FOR FOOD BUDGET

Get Your Money's Worth, Please Family Tastes, Above All Avoid Monotony, Director Says.

By VIOLA DECKER.

Budgeting the food allowance is a modern-day problem of great importance. To manage successfully the feeding of the hungry is primarily the business of the woman in the home. But unwise planning is often the result of a woman's attempt at budgeting if she does not keep in mind three very important rules. These are:

1. Be sure you get your money's worth in food value (calories), in what you buy.
2. Buy the things you know your family likes, not things you know they don't like.
3. Avoid having the same thing all the time.

Watch Markets. Any good homemaker will tell you that she watches the market carefully. She makes a point of selecting and buying the best grades and most nourishing foods at the time her Q. S. S. grocery comes to watch the ads, and when she sees a "special" she buys enough to last her for a time. On the contrary, through mismanagement, buying in small amounts and only for one meal, often means money lost. The buying of food supplies requires practice, and this is best obtained by going directly to your favorite market and becoming familiar with the quality and value of foods on sale.

But strange as this may seem, it isn't enough to plan our meals. What they give just the right amount of kinds of vitamins, "fulls," and body-building foods; there is another important thing to consider—your own family's special "likes" and "dislikes."

No matter how economically you had planned a meal, if your family didn't like what you had planned to eat, it would be a total waste of money.

This brings another point of budgeting to deep in mind. When trying to feed families on a limited amount of money, it is very difficult to get away from serving the same old thing every meal. Meat, potatoes, beans—we know these are "cheap," so we come back to them again and again. This makes meals so monotonous that the family loses their appeal.

Find new ways of serving old favorites and be alert to discovering new recipes. You will get both of these at the Quality Service Stores cooking school.

2D WYNEKOOP TRIAL REACHES NEW GROUND

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING. CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The second trial of Alvin Karpis, who was accused of the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, today reached the point at which it was interrupted by a technicality. The trial was held in the new criminal courts building, which was opened last month by the collapse of the defendant.

Dr. Wynekoop's collapse in the January hearing followed the testimony of Dr. Harry B. Hoffman, Cook county psychiatrist, who testified that he knew the man who had made the statement that the defendant appeared in good physical condition and listened intently to the right hand while she first told of firing a bullet into the back of the wife of her son, Earle.

Counsel for Dr. Wynekoop concentrated on the effort to convince the jury that the defendant's "statement" admitting the shooting was made at the suggestion of police while the 63-year-old physician was in a weakened condition as the result of an all-night police grilling.

The "right word confession," which Dr. Hoffman had testified in the first trial that Dr. Wynekoop had made to him was repeated by him in answer to questions by Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty.

After Dr. Wynekoop had made her statement to the police, did you have any further conversation with her?" asked Dougherty.

"Yes," replied Dr. Hoffman, "I asked her what she had to say."

"What was her answer?" "She said, 'I did it to save the poor dear.'"

At the close of the first trial, defense attorneys had said that Dr. Wynekoop could have interpreted the question as meaning "why did you make the statement?" and her answer could have been reference to a desire to save Earle from further questioning.

Dr. Hoffman's account of the morning in which Dr. Wynekoop made her statement in the first trial was given previously by John Stege, supervising police captain.

TOLSTOI IS SUBJECT OF BOOKSHOP TALK

Count Leo Tolstoy, famous Russian novelist and social philosopher, will be the subject of the talk by Mrs. Emma Garrett Morris in Rich's book shop this morning at 10 o'clock.

Tolstoy attended the University of Kazan, and later went to Caucasus, where he joined an artillery regiment. Two years later he was detailed to the army of the Danube, taking part during the Crimean war in the defense of Sebastopol. On this experience were written the stories in which he painted so realistically the horrors of war.

After resigning his commission he lived for a few years in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), later retiring to his estate where he wrote his great novels, "Anna Karenina" and "War and Peace."

Virginia Wolff, in commenting on this author, says she considers him the greatest of the modern novelists. The lectures in Rich's book shop are open to the public without charge.

NEGRO IS IDENTIFIED IN CARROLL SHOOTING

Joe Benton, negro, of 300 Cain street, Monday was identified as the man who shot Police Lieutenant L. C. Carroll on Fort street several days ago, police reported after finding Benton killed in a gun fight with another negro. Police had been looking for Benton for several days, it was said. Detectives Englebert and McCarty began a search for Benton's killer.

HAWAII SENDS FOOD TO Q. S. S. STORES

Since the first great demand for canned foods during the gold rush days of 1849, the canning industry has grown to vast proportions amid romantic surroundings.

Under the banner of Libby, raw products are gathered in many climes by an army of workers representing virtually all races. Down in balmy Hawaii, land of blossoms, soft voices, and blue sky, lie Libby's far-reaching pineapple plantations. In the country about old Seville Libby gathers olives for the Q. S. S. stores.

With the great variety of canned food now on the market, it is possible to live almost entirely on tinned foods. Every expedition of discovery, every army in the field in recent years has used canned foods as an important part of its rations. The traveler's way through the desert, and across the wilderness, is marked by the empty tin cans, and a pile of tin cans grows by the side of each shack on the distant ranch or mining property. The empty tin cans of the country constitute a vast mountain of waste metal, for the United States is the greatest producer and consumer of canned foods in the world. Its products flood the ports of every land.

The pineapple was first brought to Hawaii about 1813 by a Spanish navigator. Although the first fruit was polished by natives, the plants were not cultivated and grew in a wild state until 1885, when an enterprising English horticulturist, Captain John Kidwell, realized their commercial possibilities and laid out the first Hawaiian pineapple plantation. Kidwell made many important contributions to pineapple cultivation and is recognized as the founder of the industry.

The United States was the logical market for pineapple, but it was soon discovered they could not be shipped satisfactorily in the fresh state. This resulted in the erection of a cannery for preserving the fruit. It was from this humble beginning that the Hawaiian pineapple industry has grown to its present-day proportions. Now more than 95 per cent of Hawaiian pineapple is canned.

Pineapples grow on plants which rarely reach more than waist high. They are set out in long rows just a foot or two apart and one of the most interesting sights imaginable is a vast pineapple plantation with acre and acre of these plants stretching as far as the eye can see. The fruit is not ready for harvest until 22 or 24 months after planting and this is followed by two or three subsequent yields at early intervals, after which the field is dug up and replanted.

Modern Cannery. The modern pineapple cannery in Hawaii also presents an outstanding example of highly developed production methods. The peeling and slicing of the pineapple, the sealing of the tin and the processing and labeling are all accomplished by automatic machinery and every employee is dressed in spotless white and wears rubber gloves. The automatic machinery, which is the marvel of visitors, has been developed by constant study by mechanical and production engineers.

Libby, McNeill & Libby added Hawaiian pineapple to their long list of canned foods in 1900 when the industry was still in its infancy. Libby's pineapple has enjoyed sales increases even more phenomenal than that of the industry itself.

Whereas Libby canned but 2 per cent of the industry's total pack in 1910, more than one-fourth of all Hawaiian pineapple canned last year was Libby's.

Libby owns or controls more than 20,000 acres of the choicest pineapple land in Hawaii.

Second Best As Beggar

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—(P)—Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the exiled former kaiser, is a pretty good beggar—but a fellow nazi is even better.

Participating in a two-day nazi drive for winter relief funds, the prince obtained enough contributions to fill ten tin cans in his first afternoon's "work" Saturday.

Jingling 965 marks (about $376) he proudly believed he had taken off first honors. But he was doomed to disappointment.

Storm Troop Leader Richter succeeded in collecting 1,665 marks (about $650) in the same length of time.

AMERICAN BAKERIES' MERITA IS INDORSED

The American Bakeries Company points with pride to their new Merita cake, indorsed by leading culinary authorities, used in the Q. S. S. cooking school by Miss Viola Decker, and made from a recipe tested and approved by the south's foremost cooking authority, Mrs. S. R. Dull.

It is a great convenience for housewives to be able to go to their neighborhood store and get a cake that has moist, tender and delicious texture with flavor made possible by rich ingredients, such as bar chocolate, creamery butter in sticks, fresh fruits and flour of infinite delicacy that absorbs the maximum amount of sugar; assuring her of a cake that has good home-made taste, relieving her of tedious and time-taking baking.

There is always a variety of Merita cakes at neighborhood stores that are fresh, moist, tender and delicious, offering economy to the housewife without the penalty of sacrificed enjoyment.

MILLER CORN FLAKES FRESH FOR CONSUMER

The Miller Fresh From Oven Cereal Mills of Omaha, Neb., have operated very successfully as exclusive corn mills for a period in excess of a quarter of a century, confining their products to grits, corn meal and other staple items as manufactured in a modern corn mill.

About four years ago they decided to manufacture corn flakes and also bran flakes and other similar items. Their idea in the manufacture of corn flakes was to make flakes of the better kind and to pack them so that they would reach the consumer in as good condition as when they left the oven.

The Miller Cereal Mills apparently accomplished the result they desired in their package, for the consumers acceptance of this better corn flake has resulted in this concern more than trebling their capacity in the past four years.

These corn flakes are sold in all Quality Service Stores and are no higher in price than ordinary corn flakes.

VIRGINIA OFFICIALS DROP KIDNAP PROBE

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Feb. 26.—(P)—Despite the action of Judge Frederick W. Coleman today ordering discontinuance of an investigation by county officials of the alleged kidnapping of Caroline Musante last week, two department of justice operatives, E. G. Peterson and L. J. Rumber, were still pursuing their probe into the case.

Meanwhile, the girl remained in Mary Washington hospital, where it was said she was suffering from a deep cold, the result of exposure in the woods where she was found bound hand and foot to a tree.

Judge Coleman, expressing his belief that the case was a "frame-up," issued instructions to Commonwealth's Attorney G. B. Lince to incur no more expense either to the county or the state in investigating the affair.

Underweight Children

Need More Iron in Their Blood!

Children who are thin and pale and who lack appetite are usually suffering from a deficiency of iron. When the blood lacks iron it becomes thin and poor and fails to nourish. Then a child loses appetite and becomes still thinner and weaker—and easy prey to disease!

To build up your child, give him Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic. It contains iron which makes for rich, red blood. It also contains tasteless quinine which tends to purify the blood. These two effects make it an exceptional medicine for young and old. A few days on Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic will work wonders in your child. It will sharpen his appetite, improve his color and build up his pep and energy and increase his resistance to disease. Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic is absolutely safe for them. Contains nothing harmful. All stores sell Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic. Get a bottle today and see how your child will benefit from it.

serves as a key item, aiding and stimulating additional sales of not only baking powder but numerous other grocery products, is pointed out as the underlying principle which has been responsible for the present outstanding success of the entire Rumford selling campaign, from well-known national radio cooking school to simplest cake folder.

Naturally, Rumford's product has the advantage of being an all-phosphate baking powder, with definite cooking, baking and nutritive superiorities for this reason. No detail of Rumford's versatility and effectiveness has been overlooked in presenting its story to the public so that sales of all baking items and many general cooking items, as well as sales of baking powder will be increased and maintained.

In the Rumford radio school of cookery, which reaches millions of women and brings in regular responses from many thousands, Elizabeth Ann Baker specializes in helping housewives in their every-day cooking problems. No effort has ever been made on her part to get into those cookery problems which are manifestly beyond the experience and interest of the average housewife whose biggest interest is cooking for the average family. The wisdom of this policy is attested by Miss Baker's impressive success in the home-cooking field. The Rumford school begins by looking at cooking problems from the housewife's point of view, by considering her cooking as an active part of the daily family life. Answers are furnished for such commonplace but important questions as "How make winter vegetables more interesting to the family?" "What kind of desserts shall I serve the very young children?" "How can I make my meat money go farther?" "How can I cook economically for a small family?" And many others with a similar nationwide application.

Naturally, women are interested in having these difficulties solved for them, and naturally enough they follow the way which has been made easy for them by the cooking school. They buy more and better baking powder and buy the other foods suggested. The interests of everyone, from those who sell the food to those who eat it are much better served. Then there is another angle to the

Miss Decker Selects Cabinet

The Hoosier kitchen cabinet, the name of which has almost become a household word where modern kitchen equipment and arrangements are discussed, has been selected by Miss Viola Decker, home economist and instructor at the Quality Service Stores cooking school, opening at the Georgia theater this morning.

Rumford merchandising structure which is well worth the consideration of every grocer—everywhere. It's the Rumford policy of selling quality and pointing out the true economy of the purchase of worth-while quality staples. Emphasis upon this was never more important than now. Right now the swing is definitely away from mere cheapness and its inevitable effect—profitless selling. At no time have nearly all forces so combined as to put over a telling and selling message in favor of real quality products sold and reasonable and yet profitable prices. Merchants and grocers who have been tying in with Rumford sales efforts are cashing in handsomely.

Pick of 1,400 Kinds Of Rice Is Comet

There are approximately 1,400 varieties of rice grown. Fortunately we don't have them all in this country, but we do have here, many varieties such as Blue Rose, Honduras, Edith, Ladi Wright, Early Prolific, Japan Style, etc. Then each type again has a long variety of grades.

There is quite a variation in the cooking requirements; this runs anywhere from 15 to 30 minutes, depending upon the grade.

Comet rice is strictly an uncoated rice, meaning by that, it has not been given the application of glucose and talcum powder.

This rice is given the "hot pan" treatment, which is a process extracting the oily moisture from the rice, and a drying process. The drier the rice, the fluffier it cooks.

It is also given special treatment which prevents weevil germination without injuring the nutrition, thereby always assuring the consumer clean, sanitary rice. This is particularly important during the summer months.

CHURNGOLD GIVES FLAVOR TO COOKING

One of the secrets which makes southern cooking famous the world over, even to the most discriminating, is flavor. Either in the preparation, or in the last minute touch prior to the serving, the flavor is the all-important item. This all-important item is Churngold.

Churngold is made for the American palate, with an appetizing delicious flavor, which has steadily added to its increasing popularity among Atlanta housewives.

Thousands of homes are familiar with this product, which is served at every meal. It is unsurpassed as a spread for bread, hot cakes, waffles and biscuits and is high in economical savings. Miss Decker was high in her praise of this product Monday. She will use it during the sessions of the cooking school. "The fact that it is an ideal cooking agent makes me all the more charmed that I will be able to use it to such wonderful advantage at the cooking school," she said. "And another point to mention regarding Churngold is that it is churned in a spotless sanitary plant and only the best and most healthful ingredients are used in its manufacture. I know Atlanta housewives will be interested to know that their city surpassed all other southern cities in increased sales of Churngold in 1933."

The Star Provision Company are the local distributors. MONTREAL—(UP)—One of the oldest child games—playing horse with a broom—resulted in the death here of Pierre Orhans, aged 20 months. He was fatally scalded when his "horse" balked and upset a pot of hot coffee over him.

DURKEE'S DRESSING LEADER FOR 75 YEARS

A product must be good to be a leader for 75 years. Durkee's famous dressing and meat sauce holds that distinction and its increasing popularity among the discriminating housewives of America will keep it on the pinnacle of "something different."

This product, which is the oldest commercial dressing on the market, has that "certain something" which adds a flavor to foods that no other dressing has. The 12 spices and vinegar which are blended to produce the product require seven months of aging in maple wood to give that famous flavor that only Durkee's possesses.

And only the freshest of fresh eggs are used also. Durkee's has no equal for use in sandwich making and a bit added to homemade salad dressing gives an unusual flavoring.

Miss Decker highly recommends Durkee's and will use it in many of her famous recipes at the cooking school.

Brides will be especially interested in Durkee's moist tropical coconut, for there is always an air of romance when tropics are mentioned. These fresh nuts come from tropical lands of palm trees and moonlight and are sealed in cans to retain their freshness. The coconut is used mainly for cake-topping and ambrosia.

Miss Decker will demonstrate the use of this romantic product in many recipes at the school.

Georgia Editors Reveal Optimism; Say Talmadge Is Now Unbeatable

By HUNT CLEMENT JR.
Conditions throughout Georgia are definitely on the mend.

Interviews with a number of the 192 editors of daily and weekly newspapers who attended the seventh annual press institute at Athens last week revealed an optimism that seemingly obtains in all sections of the state.

Representatives of paper companies said informally that they were selling more white paper than in several years. That means editors are printing more advertising. It means retail trade is greater, with more money in circulation.

What do the editors think about state politics? In the main that any man who runs against Governor Eugene Talmadge next summer—any man—will be cutting out a political shroud, and that Governor Talmadge will not wear it.

Generally speaking, it is debatable whether the press moulds public opinion or public opinion moulds the press. The editors for the greater number confess that in respect to Talmadge there is no debate. The people in the rural and country districts are "sold" on him and the weekly press responds to the sentiment, with fewer misgivings than anti-Talmadge people suspect.

Clean-Out Was Needed.
A prominent editor is speaking. "Things have come to a pretty pass when a governor of Georgia turns bayonets on state officials. But Talmadge got the highway department cleaned out. It needed cleaning out. There you are. He gets things done that need to be done, and while you may not like his method you have to admit he delivers."

"I'm about 90 per cent Talmadge," said another editor. "The folks down my way won't even listen to the 10 per cent I'm against him."

With matters as they are today, can any man exploit the opposition to Talmadge which the editors recognize in the state's urban population? How about Abit Nix, of Athens?

Mr. Nix ran second to Mr. Talmadge. He delivers a public address occasionally but he spends most of his time close to his law business. It can be said of Mr. Nix that he does not feel called of God to serve as governor. There are reforms he wants to see enacted. He advocates a new constitution; a revision of the tax system; a frank acknowledgment of the government's responsibility for the social betterment of the citizens.

No Mansion Fixation.
But Mr. Nix does not have a governor's mansion fixation. He has an open mind. A lot of men are talking with him and if they tell him next summer what they are telling him today he will not be a candidate. Are Georgians talking state politics out in the country? Are they interested in constitutional reforms? Tax revisions? Old age pensions? Improvements in sanitation and health?

The answer is not a categorical "no," but editors of weekly papers see no indications of a unanimity of opinion. People are more optimistic than they have been in months, but they are too busy scratching for a living to do much talking about anything political but Talmadge and Roosevelt. They look to Washington with more interest and concern than at any time since Woodrow Wilson was elected the first time.

From the state as a whole no voices as yet are demanding a translation of the Roosevelt reconstruction policies in terms of the state government.

DARTMOUTH ALUMNI HONOR DEAN LAYCOCK

Dartmouth University men from six southeastern states gathered in Atlanta Monday to honor Craven Laycock, dean of the institution, who will retire next June after 38 years of service to the New England College. The climax of the celebration was reached Monday night at a dinner at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Presided over by H. F. Jones, head of the Dartmouth alumni in Atlanta, the dinner was informal. The principal speech was delivered by Dean Laycock and short talks were made by leading alumni in the section.

The golf tournament for the old grads was held at the Brookhaven Country Club Monday afternoon and H. F. Jones was low scorer. The celebration was opened with a presentation of the Dartmouth trophy to Tech High school at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning, the award to commemorate the winning of the state interscholastic championship in football in 1933.

At the dinner Monday, the alumni presented Dean Laycock with a man-

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

I have just had a nice talk with the dean of the State College of Agriculture, who told me some most interesting things about the development of an educational program. For example, there are more students in forestry at the state university now than there ever has been in the history of that institution. It is due, he says, to the educational work carried on by the state forestry department with the idea of stimulating interest in the subject. Therefore, forestry in Georgia is due, for a big advance, when the advance begins, it will mean the electric clock in appreciation of his service to the university. During his visit to Atlanta Monday, Dean Laycock expressed himself as "overwhelmingly shocked" at the tragedy which claimed the lives of nine undergraduates at Dartmouth Sunday morning. The deaths of the nine came as a result of monoxide gas poisoning in a fraternity house on the campus.

Georgia's Schools Seeking U. S. Loans

Both the institutions of higher education and the common schools of the state Monday were looking to the federal government for financial assistance. Chancellor Philip Weltner of the university system, was preparing to leave today for Washington, where he will press the application of the system's board of regents for a $5,571,000 loan for improvements and additions to the state's colleges and Superintendent M. D. Collins was in Washington, where it was reported that he is seeking a loan of $2,500,000 for the common schools.

Mr. Weltner said that after his visit to Washington he would proceed to Chicago, where he would confer with officials of the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges concerning the status of the university's school of medicine at Augusta, which has been stripped of its Class A rating by the medical association and threatened with loss of its membership in the college group.

Because of a shortage of funds, a number of teachers in Bacon county have gone unpaid and several schools have been closed, at least temporarily. It was said at the capitol that the schools affected were few in number and for the most part the schools of the county are still open.

SIX PERSONS PERISH IN UTICA HOTEL FIRE

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Six men were burned to death this morning in a fire that destroyed the Mar-rone hotel. Four of the six bodies taken out of the smoldering ruins were identified. They were: Salvatore Troja, 40, marble worker; Dominick Bellacqua, a CWA worker; Joseph Paladino, salesman; Peter Gillis. Several victims taken to hospitals in two ambulances and a patrol wagon, were reported as not seriously injured, with the exception of Steve Salvone, who jumped from a second-story window. He may die.

TESTIMONY BEFORE COMMISSION IS HIT

Statements of Kruger in Rail Rate Hearing Attacked.

James Miller, of the press committee of Washington Lodge No. 943, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Monday issued a statement in reply to testimony given Wednesday before the Georgia public service commission by George D. Kruger, rate expert, and charged that as a "diagnostician of the railway malady you are an amateur and a failure."

Miller's statement is as follows: In testimony given before the Georgia public service commission Wednesday, February 21, as published Thursday, February 22, we find the information as given by Mr. George D. Kruger, alleged "rate expert."

Why Mr. Kruger is called "rate expert" or what his fitness is to pass judgment on or to speak with authority on the question with which he deals no one seems to know. Every informed railway worker knows that there has been no increase of approximately 175 per cent, although an untrained public may accept this "bank" gratuitously as laid out by this "bank" and Mr. Kruger, who has been investigated the question, knows it is not so.

Railway employees everywhere will challenge the statement of the witness. "I don't think railway executives exhaust themselves very much to insist on drastic reductions in salaries or wages." This plea for the railway workers is not informed concerning these things, he doesn't know; if he does know he knows it; of the hard fights the railway workers have had with the railway executives to keep the salaries from being slashed worse than what they are. Mr. Kruger evidently knows nothing about organized labor, its struggles and sacrifices that cannot therefore speak with authority, or even intelligently, as he does not on this subject.

Another statement the witness made, which is absurd and even more erroneous is: "I know no reason why railway employees should not take it on the chin just the same as other classes of employees in the United States." If any class of workers have taken it on the chin it is the public of the thousands of employees who have lost their jobs? Are his figures correct or can they be correct? He certainly does not balance the gains resulting from salary reductions and losses of jobs. Had Mr. Kruger wanted to be fair, would he have taken into consideration the total loss and balanced it against the gains? This critic, like all other unfriendly to labor, makes incorrect statements and ignores pure facts to misguide the public.

"I believe the groups of working people have the same right to organize and sell their products of their labor collectively through representatives of their own choosing as any other group of citizens, though they be bankers, merchants or railroad owners," this being one of Governor Talmadge's pre-election statements, and for him the labor vote. This means if existing that railway workers should sell his labor the same as a banker sells his product, which is money, yet one of Governor Talmadge's appointees says the railway worker who fights poverty every hour of existence should be willing to make a sacrifice. Mr. Kruger, as a public servant, how much of your salary are you willing to give up for the benefit of the public? No, Mr. Kruger, you are all wrong. ## Solving Your Problems

If you have any questions you wish answered, address them to Sally Saver, care The Constitution.

Question—Which is more correct to serve with a fruit salad at a formal luncheon or dinner, a mayonnaise or French dressing?

MRS. M. B. Answer—A mayonnaise is permitted for a luncheon salad, but a French dressing is more usual with a dinner salad. For dinner the salad is rather formal and its dressing is rather formal. The luncheon salad may be the chief or one of the chief dishes, and the richer dressing will be appropriate with it. We think, however, for a fruit salad, the dressing that is best of all has fruit juice as one of its chief ingredients and perhaps a mere flavor of sugar.

Question—Whenever I take sponge or sunshine cake I can never get them out of the pan. I wipe the cake tin dry and pour in my batter, and I tried rubbing a little butter in it and all to the same result. They stick like glue.

MRS. H. L. Answer—If a cake pan is greased it can never be used for a sunshine or angel cake. Enough of the grease will have been absorbed into the pores of the pan to cause angel or sunshine cake batter to stick, so the only remedy is to buy a new pan.

Question—What is the difference between pastry flour and bread flour?

MRS. H. G. Answer—Bread flour is high in gluten and feels slightly granular when rubbed between the fingers. Pastry flour is made from winter wheat and high in starch. It feels much softer and moist. Pastry flour makes a thinner batter or dough than a bread flour. When squeezed together in the hand, the cake or pastry flour keeps its shape when the hand is unclasp-ed—the bread flour falls apart.

Question—Can you suggest some ways of utilizing fruit juices that are often left over when the fruit is used for salads, etc.?

MRS. F. O. Answer—Fruit juices may be utilized in a number of ways. It may be used for the liquid in baking cake; for a gelatin dessert. Apples may be cored and cut in eighths and dropped

Director Buys Enna Jetticks

All housewives should know of the complete rest, comfort and relaxation afforded by the wearing of the famous Enna Jetticks shoes. Miss Decker is shown in the above picture with C. D. McLarty, of the Davis & McLarty Company, local representatives of Enna Jetticks shoes in the Peachtree Arcade, as she purchased a pair of these famous shoes, which she will wear during all sessions of the cooking school.

Question—I find it is quite a problem to feed my little girl of three. There are so few foods she will eat. Have you any suggestions?

MRS. L. H. Answer—Try preparing and serving her foods in an attractive manner, using pretty though inexpensive dishes—something that will appeal to her—and if you will send to this department a self-addressed, stamped envelope we will gladly mail these suggestions to you.

Question—Is it an unpardonable breach of good manners to cut a salad with a knife, particularly one of lettuce hearts?

MRS. G. W. Answer—Not only is such a method of eating a salad pardonable, but desirable. It is far better to use a salad knife to cut a stubborn lettuce heart than to chance its sliding to the cloth or floor. With any salad which cannot be eaten comfortably with the fork it is both correct and considerate to use the silver knife which should be served with it.

Question—At a dinner where several courses are served and the silver is placed on the table, if one doesn't know which spoon or fork to use, what should one do?

MRS. A. H. Answer—On correctly set dinner tables, the flat silver is arranged in the exact order in which it is to be used, the first course fork or spoon on the outer edge at the right, and so on. (Only the meat fork is placed at the left of the plate). You will not be apt to make any mistakes if you take the flat silver for each course in the order in which it is placed.

MISS DECKER TELLS HOW TO FRY IN OIL

"Good frying means quick frying," said Miss Viola Decker, instructor for the Quality Service Stores school, who explained that in her classes she would demonstrate the correct use of Wesson Oil in deep fat frying. The school, the first of a series to be staged by the Q. S. S. Stores will be held at Georgia Theater, beginning today at 8:30 o'clock.

Good frying means quick frying, explained Miss Decker. This requires that the Wesson Oil be hot when the food is placed in the pan. The hot Wesson Oil immediately sears the food, forming a protecting crust or coating, which retains all the flavor and juices with in the food itself, keeping out the excess of fat or "soakiness."

The correct degree of temperature may be ascertained by a simple test, in case the cook does not have a frying thermometer. Brown an inch cube of bread in the hot fat. If the bread browns in 40 seconds, the Wesson Oil is very hot. The following table will be a guide.

Guide for Frying. Ready for potato chips and croquettes if the bread cube will brown in 40 seconds. Batters (flour mixtures) fry perfectly if cube browns in 60 seconds. Sea foods and meats, small (oysters and sweetbreads), 45 seconds. Sea foods and meats, large (veal cutlets, crabs, etc.), 50 seconds.

For the ideal deep fat frying the Wesson Oil people have invented a deep fat frying pan consisting of a strainer and pan combined. The strainer allows the food to be lowered into the hot Wesson Oil and thus taken out as a unit after the proper cooking has been done. The Wesson Oil itself may be strained and used over again, thus affecting an economy in the kitchen.

As Wesson Oil is a wholesome vegetable-fat product, frying in Wesson Oil produces a wholesome food, Miss Decker said. Also the clear, even heating quality of Wesson Oil makes it possible always to know when the exact temperature has been attained for perfect frying.

Another popular use of Wesson Oil is the making of mayonnaise and salad dressing. The correct method for making mayonnaise may be learned from the instructions issued by the Wesson Oil people. New Orleans, which instructions should be in the hands of every housewife.

Here are some facts, pointed out by Miss Decker, which should be remembered in deep fat frying:

Fill your frying kettle two to three inches deep with Wesson Oil. Cook only enough food at one time to cover the bottom of the frying basket. Too much food lowers temperature.

Uncolored foods should be as dry as possible, as the presence of moisture causes the oil to bubble and even boil over.

Brown foods to the desired color on one side and then turn on the other side to brown. Repeated turning increases absorption of oil.

Foods being cooked together should be uniform in size and shape.

Always let the oil come back to the desired temperature before adding more food.

When the food is properly fried, remove it from the oil let it drain over the kettle for a few seconds, then place on absorbent paper to finish draining. Paper napkins are convenient and inexpensive to use as absorbent paper.

Strain fat after each using and store in a dark, cool place, preferably in a covered container.

Germany and Poland Sign Cultural Pact

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—(P)—Germany and Poland signed a cultural non-aggression pact today.

The action followed the exchange on Saturday of ratifications of a political non-aggression pact between the two countries which was negotiated January 26.

The aim of both pacts is to provide a peaceful settlement of all questions arising between the two nations.

The chiefs of the government press departments of both countries today agreed "in all questions having to do with the moulding of public opinion to lend their co-operative effort in a direction more and more toward awakening mutual understanding and thereby insure a friendly atmosphere."

Accordingly, the newspapers and radio stations of Germany and Poland are to cease attacks on the other country. Motion pictures and the theaters will refrain from performances belittling, attacking or blemishing the other country.

Treasury Offering Far Oversubscribed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that the $75,000,000 issue of 182 day treasury bills dated February 28 were nearly six times oversubscribed. Of the $420,115,000 received in bids, $75,088,000 was accepted. The average interest rate on a discount basis was 0.62 per cent a year.

ARKANSAS COURT ANNULS DIVORCE AND CITES POETRY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 26.—(P)—Taking some of the liberality out of Arkansas' 90-day divorce law, the state supreme court today offered a poetic recipe for patching up marital difficulties.

"Had the parties to this unfortunate marriage heeded the admonition of this court—a little confessed, a little endured, a little forgiven, and all is cured—this now unhappy couple would be enjoying the association to the marriage status," said the court.

It set aside a divorce decree granted here to Wilbur L. Sutherland, of Cleveland, Ohio, which was contested by Eleanor A. Sutherland, and ordered him to pay her $50 a month "until the reconciliation has been effected or until some court of competent jurisdiction" has passed on his complaint.

The case was dismissed on the ground the evidence was not properly corroborated.

It was the third time in recent weeks the supreme court had set aside decrees granted to non-residents under the state's 90-day residence statute.

7 ESCAPE HOSPITAL FOR CRIMINAL INSANE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 26.—(P)—Six inmates of the criminal insane section of Central State hospital were sought by officers today while a seventh, who had escaped, had returned to the institution after suffering a sprained ankle.

The seven escaped last night by sawing bars, tying two sheets together and dropping to the ground from the second floor. In striking the ground, one suffered an ankle injury and hid in the barn, but returned to the hospital two hours later when the cold became intense.

ACCUSED TENNESSEAN RELEASED UNDER BOND

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 26.—(P)—Thomas P. Tucker, 62, charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife who died in a burning garage, was released from jail under $5,000 bond today. As he left the jail, Tucker reiterated his innocence.

CROSLY REFRIGERATION IS FEATURE OF SHOW

The new Crosley Shelvador and Tri-Shelvador electric refrigerators will be a feature of the equipment display at the Q. S. S. Food Show. Many new features are incorporated in the latest model.

Wherever the new Crosley refrigerators have been seen, they have won instant admiration. Housewives everywhere immediately recognize that Crosley has given them everything they could possibly want.

The streamline beauty of each model sets a new standard of attractiveness. With a gleaming snow-whiteness and jet-blackness—a new concept of modern design attracts the eye of every woman and adds charm to any kitchen.

Of course, the big feature of every model is the sensational Shelvador. These shelves in the door that increase the "usable" capacity 50 per cent and that provide space for butter, eggs, bacon, and other small items startled the nation last year. And with its popularity proven and sales momentum firmly established the demand will be even keener this year.

Then, too, each model has the new ventilated front, which provides adequate ventilation for the refrigerator unit even when the refrigerator is placed close to the wall or in a small alcove, thereby giving maximum efficiency and minimum current consumption.

The Shelvatray is the ideal place to set things when arranging items in the refrigerator. And food items can be carried right on it to the table, stove or cabinet.

The Shelvabasket and the Storabin are handy storage places for vegetables and bulk items. Neither are refrigerated and they represent the scientific use of space ordinarily wasted.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoons daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sterchi Shows Crosley Radio

Pictures herewith is the beautiful Crosley radio, supplied by the Sterchi Furniture Company, which will occupy a prominent spot in the big Quality Service Stores' Cooking School, which starts this morning at the Georgia theater. Miss Decker, instructor at the school, who selected the Crosley, is pictured in the radio department at Sterchi's.

bin are handy storage places for vegetables and bulk items. Neither are refrigerated and they represent the scientific use of space ordinarily wasted.

They have such strong eye-appeal that they can do nothing less than excite an irresistible urge for ownership.

Realizing the demand on the part of that certain class of men and women who want the ultra-smart and the daring in design and conception, Crosley offers the new moderne radios, which truly set forth a new standard in modern beauty.

Now, in addition to the standard line of Crosley radios, which are still demanded by the vast majority of the radio-buying public, whose tastes do not favor the moderne—Crosley dealers are able to satisfy the needs of that certain class with these new moderne receivers. They are all so new in design and so appealing to those who demand the ultra-moderne that they make a quick, ready, highly profitable market for all Crosley dealers.

With eight new table models and six new lowboys, there is sufficient diversity of models to suit every requirement and every pocketbook. Beauty and smartness alone are not the only admirable factors of each of these new sets. Everyone has a standard of performance that parallels its beauty.

Here is a marvelous new compound this is winning admiration wherever it is presented. Try-Fre

Aluminum Glistens Quickly With Brillo

It takes no housewife's magic to make 14 pieces of aluminum glisten like new at the cost of a cent. The real trick lies in buying the right aluminum cleanser. Home-makers everywhere report that the above accomplishment boils down to asking your grocer for Brillo—the leading aluminum cleanser.

Brillo consists of soft metal-fiber lubricated pads and a cake of special polishing and cleaning soap, made only of the purest vegetable oils. The small package contains five pads and a cake of soap; the large package contains 12 pads and a larger cake of soap. Brillo is economical and sanitary—the pads can be rinsed and used over and over again. Furthermore, Brillo is the only cleanser guaranteed to clean, offering:

"Free—a new utensil should Brillo fail to clean." In addition to Brillo's outstanding efficiency in cleaning pots and pans, it has been found to be marvelous for cleaning stores, linoleum, knives and forks, hardwood floors, golf clubs, automobile parts and countless other things.

Brillo Aluminum Cleanser is endorsed and recommended by all the leading household authorities and institutes of the world over, including Good Housekeeping, Household, Searchlight, Detective, Royal Institute of Hygiene of London and many others.

Business Fields for Women Need Expanding, Says Report

Medicine, Retail Merchandising and Credit Management Found To Be Least Crowded Professions.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Teaching, nursing, library work, and office work are the occupations most overcrowded for women, a study made by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs has revealed.

Medicine, retail merchandising, credit management and the executive side of social work are the least crowded.

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, of Richmond, Va., president of the federation, announced the results of the survey today. She is here in connection with the federation's business, which includes a campaign to obtain 10,000 jobs for "white collar" women before March 11.

"Even in the fields that are overcrowded," Mrs. Bowman asserted, "there are opportunities for women with specialized technical training. In nursing, for instance, there are openings in frontier and public health nursing as executives, and in connection with social work."

"Home economics is crowded for teachers, but not in the business end. Here dietetic technicians and executive home economists are in demand. There are many opportunities for executive housekeepers in hotels, and this is a field in which men can't compete."

Women in Medicine Decrease.
The number of women in medicine has decreased from 9,000 in 1910 to 6,800 in 1930, Mrs. Bowman said.

Women doctors, she asserted, say there are more opportunities in medicine than ever before, but there are few scholarships in medical schools.

available for women, and women find it extremely difficult to get internships.

But there are many chances for women as general practitioners in rural areas if they are willing to go there, the study showed, and there are also opportunities for women doctors in school, court, reformatory and industrial work, and a "great field" in psychiatry.

Face Same Problems as Men.
Women lawyers likewise find it hard to get started, Mrs. Bowman said, and there are 47 times as many men as women lawyers.

New fields in which opportunities for women are increasing, she said, are accounting and insurance.

From the government down, the public generally has forgotten the fact that women need to take care of themselves and that more than half of those who work either contribute to or support families.

"Women have resourcefulness, adaptability and moral courage. With these qualities to contribute, the sooner all occupations are open to them on an equal basis, the richer our national life will be."

DARTMOUTH MOURNS NINE VICTIMS OF GAS

Eight Bodies Are Sent to Families; Other Waits Father's Arrival.

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Dartmouth tonight bade a mournful farewell to eight of her nine sons to whom death from carbon monoxide poisoning came while they slept peacefully in their fraternity house.

The bodies of the eight were sent to bereaved parents and relatives as fellow students said a sorrowful goodbye.

The body of the ninth boy, Edward M. Wentworth, of Chicago, lay in a funeral parlor here, awaiting arrival of his father, William M. Wentworth, meat packing executive, who was en route by train and airplane from Los Angeles.

To New York city went the bodies of the two only sons of Rev. Alfred B. Mollen, Edward F. 21, and Alfred H. 20. The other dead youths and their homes were William M. Smith Jr., 21, of Manassas, N. Y.; America S. Demasi, 21, Little Neck, L. I.; Harold B. Watson, 21, of Wilton, Maine; Wilmer H. Schooley, 21, Middletown, N. Y.; John J. Griffin, 19, Wallingford, Conn., and William S. Fullerton, 20, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

College authorities advised against parents coming here, both because of difficulty of mid-winter traveling conditions, and because of the additional shock certain to be experienced by the boys' friends and their parents.

The nine youths, all members of the Theta Chi fraternity, died in their beds Sunday of the coldest, deadliest gas escaped from a broken furnace chimney pipe and seeped through the house.

They had spent Saturday evening with other members of the fraternity watching Dartmouth defeat Princeton at hockey and then returned to the house to play bridge. At 12:30 a. m., their card guests departed and the boys retired to the sleep that brought their death.

Late Sunday afternoon their bodies were discovered by the janitor. President E. M. Hopkins, of Dartmouth, vainly affected, said today: "It's a terrible tragedy. There's nothing we can say or do that will express our grief, or relieve the suffering of the bereaved."

ROLLINS COLLEGE AWARDS DEGREES TO ROOSEVELT AIDS

WINTER PARK, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Honorary degrees were conferred today upon two members of President Roosevelt's cabinet and five others by Rollins College, as a highlight of Founders' Day at the institution.

Secretary of Commerce Roper was awarded a degree of doctor of humanity, and Attorney-General Cummings received a degree of doctor of laws.

Frank B. Kellogg, judge of the permanent court of international justice and former secretary of state, was awarded a doctor of humanities degree. J. Kingsbury Curtis, New York attorney and industrialist, was given a doctor of laws; Clarence H. Cook, for 57 years teacher of Latin and mathematics of Columbia grammar school, New York, was awarded a doctor of laws; Rev. Harry P. Dewey, pastor of the Plymouth church, Minneapolis, Minn., was made a doctor of humanities, and a doctor of divinity was conferred upon Rev. James B. Thomas, rector of All Saints Episcopal parish at Winter Park.

8 Passengers in Air Liner Unhurt When 'Prop' Tears Through Cabin

By the Associated Press.
Eight passengers aboard an Eastern Air Transport liner narrowly escaped injury late Monday afternoon when a northbound plane made a forced landing near Levy, S. C., after a portion of a propeller broke and tore through the mail compartment of the ship, passing between the pilot and the passengers seated in the rear. Officials of the line said none of the eight passengers was hurt.

The ship, a tri-motor, flying the regular schedule between Jacksonville and Richmond, had just left Savannah, Ga., when about six inches of the propeller on the left wing motor broke.

The piece went entirely through the cabin, cutting a hole in the mail section, which is between the pilot's seat and the passenger cabin.

The ship began vibrating violently and Pilot R. K. Smith immediately cut off all motors and headed for the nearest spot of open ground, a small cornfield. One wing brushed a tree as he came down, breaking some ribs, but the ship landed otherwise undamaged.

The pilot walked several miles to a telephone to summon help and another ship was sent to a near-by field and picked up the passengers, who continued their flight northward.

Officials said the field where Smith landed was so small it would be impossible to fly the ship out. They expected to remove the wings, tow the ship into Savannah and fly it to Atlanta for permanent repairs.

E. A. T. said it was the first propeller accident the line had experienced in 18,000,000 miles of flying.

O'CONNOR APPOINTED TO SUCCEED BERGEN

Will Take Charge of Savannah Re-employment Office.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Palmarion O'Connor, supervisor of veterans' placement work of the Georgia national re-employment office, has been placed in charge of the Savannah national re-employment office.

temporarily, Lincoln McConnell, state director, announced this afternoon. "O'Connor will serve in Savannah until a permanent chairman is selected to succeed A. D. Bergen. In dismissing Bergen, McConnell said that a list of the registered unemployed had been turned over by Bergen to Judge John Rourke, when the latter was vice chairman of the state CWA and relief committees and that the list "had found its way to the mayor's office where it was marked for political purposes." At the same time McConnell did not hold Bergen responsible for the fact that the list got to the mayor's office, but said Bergen should not have let the list leave his office. Bergen said he furnished the list to a superior officer on command for criticism of the method of registration.

Mr. McConnell said Mayor Thomas

Gamble, of Savannah, has appealed the removal of Mr. Bergen to Frank Parsons, United States employment officer, and that Mr. Parsons had sustained the state director. The ouster action was taken after investigation of the Savannah situation, Mr. Parsons wired Mayor Gamble in a reply to a request that the discharge be suspended, and no change in the order could be made.

The removal was made on the approval of the Savannah re-employment committee as a result of investigation of charges that re-employment lists had found their way to the city hall, and were being used for voting purposes, it was said.

U. H. McLaws, former placement officer, was in charge of the Savannah office temporarily until other arrangements would be made.

Can Cook in Evening Dress In Modern Electric Kitchen

The term, "beauty in the kitchen," may refer to the porcelain sink, or the neatness of a modern cabinet, or the spotlessness of the porcelain stove and refrigerator, but it might just as well include the housewife, who spends a good share of her time there. "I've been in the kitchen all morning and I'm dirty as a pig," is a statement not uncommon, but one which Miss Decker says combines about as many shocking inferences as any one sentence can.

One of her favorite platform planks is the assertion that the kitchen should take neither a great deal of time nor effort.

"In that one sentence," says Miss Decker, "the housewife admits, first of all, that she is a poor cook, a careless housekeeper, ignorant of the most simple rules of food preparation, untidy and either stupid or lazy. That may seem a terrible indictment, but let's look facts in the face. I can cook an entire meal in a white dinner dress and serve it, too, without a spot appearing on my clothes. If I can do it, any other woman can do it."

"Spots come from carelessness, leaky or badly designed cooking utensils, dirty stoves, useless hurry or unskilled handling of raw material. If a dish 'slops over' it means it was too full, carelessly handled or not watched."

"If a woman spends an entire day in the kitchen it means she is taking too many steps, owing to bad arrangement of stove, table, sink and cabinet. It means her equipment is unequal to its tasks, her utensils badly or carelessly placed, her routine badly outlined.

"I cook what amounts to several meals at every one of my lectures. I cook meats, vegetables, pies, cakes, all sorts of things and I wear dresses of the lightest materials and most delicate shades. I average less than an hour in preparing a meal or its equivalent and demonstrating, on the side all sorts of things and in addition lecture and attend all sorts of entertaining and instructive lines. "Oh, well," you say, "she has everything right at hand." True. Why haven't you? My demonstration pots and pans and dishes are not expensive. I have them right at hand because I know exactly what I am going to use and need. A workman going on a job knows exactly what tools he will need. He knows exactly where they are and they are where he can get them.

"How many women on going to a kitchen know exactly what they are going to do and lay out what they will need before they start? How many have a definite knowledge of just when to put this dish on, prepare that dish, to withdraw the other? A surprising number of housewives ex-

L. ARTHUR MOORE, 61, CITY EMPLOYEE, DIES

L. Arthur Moore, 61, an employee in the city clerk's office for the last 15 years, died Monday afternoon at his residence in the Imperial hotel after a brief illness. He was a member of the First Methodist church. Prior to his work for the city he was an employee of the bureau of markets at the state capitol.

Funeral services for Mr. Moore will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Dr. R. L. Russell and the Rev. Arthur Maness will conduct the service and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Moore are his wife; a daughter, Miss Glynn Moore; a son, Ralph Moore; two brothers, E. B. Moore, of Atlanta, and Louis Moore, of Chicago; his stepmother, Mrs. L. A. Moore, of Hillman, Ga.

claim, not once but often, during the preparing of every meal—"Oh—I forgot to—." Or else she stops in mid-action and says, "Now, let me see what will I do next?" If she knew her job she would not have to stop and she wouldn't have to say, "Oh, I forgot!" Some women actually walk miles in preparing a dinner."

Red Band Flour Is Featured

One of Miss Decker's first stops after arriving in Atlanta to conduct the Quality Service Stores cooking school was at the warehouse of the Red Band Flour. Miss Decker is shown giving her order for Red Band flour to B. W. Trumpler, district manager of this company, and Miss Decker was elated that Red Band flour had been selected to co-operate in this big school. All housewives know that expert cooks are particular about their flour for cakes, pies and biscuit, and Red Band, Miss Decker states, is used for all purposes.

ROAD RADIO PATROL OVER ENTIRE STATE SEEN IN TENNESSEE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 26.—(AP)—A plan to utilize the state highway patrol in organizing police radio protection on a statewide basis was revealed tonight by Benton McMillin, patrol chief.

He said the proposal depends on Nashville's getting a police radio system, efforts for which are now being made. He said it would be necessary also to "get a radio hookup" with stations in other Tennessee cities.

McMillin's plan calls for equipping each of the 44 motorcycles used by patrol officers with radio receiving sets. He said the cost would be "about $80 each."

The highway patrolmen would tune their sets to the municipal broadcasting stations in their respective sections of the state, he said, and thus supplement the efforts of city and county radio-equipped officers in working on crimes immediately after they were discovered.

Knoxville and Memphis now have police broadcasting stations and McMillin said Chattanooga and Johnson City will soon complete systems.

ESTHER RALSTON, MATE FILE SUITS FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Both Esther Ralston and her husband, George Webb, want a divorce, but the movie actress was the first to tell the superior court about it today.

She beat Webb, film director, by three hours and 20 minutes in filing a complaint charging him with cruelty.

He countered with an action accusing Miss Ralston of staying away from their home for weeks and refusing to disclose her whereabouts.

Miss Ralston charged that during their married life, Webb, as he was known in Hollywood, called her harsh names, nagged and quarreled, and displayed unreasonable jealousy.

MISS MARY SOWERS, JOE V. SOWERS, MEMPHIS, TENN., FEB. 26.

(AP)—A double funeral was held here today for Miss Mary L. Sowers, 76, and her brother, Joe V. Sowers, 60. She died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage attributed to shock at the news of her brother's death at St. James, Mo., Saturday. The brother formerly lived at St. Louis. He was a Spanish-American War veteran.

ROCKEFELLER SHOWS RAPID IMPROVEMENT

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26.—(UP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr., 94-year-old former oil magnate, was said today to be recuperating rapidly from an illness suffered several weeks ago that delayed his annual visit to Florida for a time.

An official statement from The Casements, Rockefeller's winter home here, said that he "is feeling fine." He has been active about his home for several days and left the house yesterday for an automobile ride in the bright Florida sunshine.

GOLDEN ENAMEL USED BY STOKELY

Several years ago Stokely Brothers & Company, the world's largest exclusive vegetable canners, initiated the policy of using golden enamel lined cans for all of their products. Discarding the long-established custom of packing vegetables in ordinary tin cans they adopted a revolutionary type of container, having a golden lining. This consists of a bright, clear, smooth coating of enamel on the inside of the can, and is highly effective in protecting the full flavor of the contents, because it prevents the vegetables from touching the tin of the can itself. This eliminates any chance of discoloration of the vegetables or in absorption of a tiny taste.

The adoption of this new style container was just one of the many interesting developments that have been sponsored by Stokely Brothers. They maintain a perfectly equipped home kitchen, under the direction of Sally Stokely, a trained dietitian and skilled cook. Its sole purpose is the improvement of Stokely vegetables and the preparation of simple, new and delightful recipes. In this kitchen the canned vegetables are prepared and served in much the same manner as is done in individual homes. Thus they find exactly how their products appear and taste when they are used by the consumer. The findings of this experimental kitchen have caused Stokely Brothers to change many of their canning formulas to better suit home conditions of preparation.

Canned immediately after picking, Stokely vegetables are similar to the fresh product in flavor, appearance and vitamin content. There are 28 different varieties of vegetables packed under the Stokely label, and the quality of each one is guaranteed unconditionally.

Plane Tragedy Reveals Marriage Of Air Hostess, Ex-Atlanta Girl

death Wheeler left the hotel early Monday and had not returned late in the day.

Miss Carter was a graduate of a nurses' training school at Chattanooga, Tenn. In Chicago she met Wheeler, a young graduate of the University of Michigan.

A telephone call from Cheyenne informed him of the tragedy. When his wife's body reaches Chicago on its homeward journey to Chattanooga, Wheeler plans to accompany it to the south, meeting her parents for the first time.

"She was going to quit her flying work on April 1," Wheeler told his friends. "I had been working nights as hotel manager and days as a model at a downtown department store. It was nothing to raise enough money so Mary could stay at home with me."

RED BAND "Kitchen Tested" FLOUR

The All-Purpose Flour

Plain or Self-Rising

All experts use and recommend the very finest food products obtainable. They know that the best foods are always the cheapest.

Miss Decker knows that Red Band is so perfectly milled, so balanced in glutes and starches that whether she makes biscuit, cakes, rolls or pastry, her bakings will come out of the oven perfect every time, when she uses Red Band Flour.

She knows that this finer flour takes just half as much shortening to bake perfectly as is required for cheap, low-grade flours, and that this makes Red Band economical. She knows, too, that because of Red Band's uniformly fine quality, it gives more food and better food... that it pays to buy the best.

Hear this famous economist. She's good-looking—she's clever—she's a wonderful cook. You will enjoy her.

And remember to order RED BAND when you need flour. You'll be surprised at the difference Red Band makes in everything you bake. Why even the children will notice it.

VALUE OF LIVE STOCK RISES IN GEORGIA

Increase of From $46,071-000 to $63,936,000 in 1933 is Revealed.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The value of live stock on Georgia farms in 1933 increased in value from $46,071,000 to $63,936,000 as compared with 1932.

The greatest gain, figures released today by the Georgia crop reporting service show, was in milk cows of 5 per cent. Mules gained 2 per cent and all live stock 5 per cent. Sheep were the same as in the previous year and swine 3 per cent less.

The gain was due to increased value per head and greater numbers. Work stock showed the outstanding advance with a net gain of $42 per head, other classes of live stock showed only slight increases.

It was estimated there were $52,000 head of cattle on Georgia farms in 1932 and $64,000 last year. Milk cows and heifers being kept for milk were 375,000 head, or 42 per cent of the total cattle.

former insurance commissioner, charged with larceny of $100,000.00 of bonds.

Judge Gilbert held that the larceny count of the indictment should be submitted to the jury, but expressed the opinion that there was "nothing to the receiving and concealing" stolen property count, which, under the ruling, is dropped.

Because of the illness of a juror court was adjourned at noon until tomorrow when Reece is scheduled to take the stand in his own defense.

Aunt Says Dr. Dean at Home On Night of Alleged Poisoning

WEDDING PLANS DENIED BY MAULL

LEWES, Del., Feb. 26.—(UP)—A member of the household of Captain Franklin C. Maull tonight denied plans for a wedding in the Greenwood, Miss., poison highball murder trial that he was to have married Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean. Maull was at sea on his ship.

"Captain Maull said he never was to have married Dr. Dean," said his housekeeper. "He did plan to meet her in Washington last summer but there was no talk of marriage. They were old friends. The captain had known her when she was a nurse in the hospital here."

By JAMES S. BEALE.
GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Dr. Sara Ruth Dean was at home preparing her trousseau for an early marriage, on the night she allegedly gave Dr. J. Preston Kennedy a poisoned highball, Mrs. Ruth Dean Boyle, an aunt, testified at the woman's physician's murder trial today.

Mrs. Boyle, offering the first major defense alibi, said her niece retired at 11 o'clock on the night of July 27, the night of the alleged trial in a medical clinic here, and slept peacefully until morning.

The state charged that Dr. Dean telephoned Dr. Kennedy four times, met him at the clinic at midnight and mixed him a "farewell" highball containing a lethal dose of bichloride of mercury shortly before his planned re-marriage to his estranged wife.

A few minutes after presenting the defense alibi, Mrs. Boyle told the jury that Dr. Dean was to have been married early in August to Franklin C. Maull, a Delaware river steamboat captain, at Washington, D. C.

Arrest of the comely young woman pediatrician on a murder warrant came after her trousseau was completed, the witness said.

The state had charged that Dr. Kennedy's "mercenary poison" death was an outgrowth of unrequited love. Captain Dr. Dean killed the man who scorned her love and planned to re-marry his divorced wife.

Today the defense portrayed Dr. Kennedy as the scorned lover, and offered Mrs. Boyle's testimony as a motive for the surgeon's "suicide," which has been hinted by the defense throughout the trial.

Mrs. Boyle, in whose home Dr. Dean lived after she became an orphan in her high school days, was subjected to a severe cross-examination by State's Attorney Fred Witty. He demanded more information about the Delaware river steamboat captain, Mrs. Boyle could not supply it.

"You mean to say that you don't know the occupation, the age, or the address of the man you niece, your nephew, was going to marry?" Witty asked.

"I think he lives at Lewes, Del.," she replied. "I considered Ruth capable of deciding on the man she was to give her life to, and I did not question her."

"If you went to sleep that night, Mrs. Boyle, how do you know that Dr. Dean did not get up out of bed, telephone Dr. Kennedy, go to his office and stay until 4:30 in the morning?" the prosecutor asked.

"I know what is going on in my home," she answered.

Mrs. Boyle will return to the stand at 9 a. m. tomorrow to complete her testimony.

Dr. Louis Leroy, of Memphis, noted southern diagnostician, on the stand six hours today, heard a dozen hypothetical questions and answers of Dr. Kennedy's last illness, but he refused to diagnose the case unless "attorneys offer more details."

Upon direct examination, he said a man could not leave his sick bed four days after consuming a lethal dose of bichloride of mercury, go to a hospital and attempt an operation.

On cross-examination, he said, in his opinion, such a patient could have attempted the operation if he had been given morphine. The defense, in presenting its hypothetical question, failed to mention morphine, he said, which "changes the situation considerably."

Previous testimony showed that Dr. Kennedy left his sick bed, took an opiate, attempted an operation, but collapsed with the incision still open. Another doctor completed the operation.

Figures that Speak

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents figures from its Annual Statement for 1933 and makes comparisons which show how the Company has carried on during the five difficult years since 1928

THROUGHOUT a period of almost unparalleled world-wide depression the institution of Life Insurance in America has furnished an example of achievement that wins admiration wherever it is understood.

Between January 1st, 1929 and January 1st, 1934, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which insures the lives of more than 25,000,000 persons—nearly one-fifth of the total populations of the United States and Canada—paid to its policyholders and their beneficiaries more than Two Billion Dollars ($2,000,000,000).

During the same period, its policyholders contributed, through their premium payments, toward the increase of more than One Billion Dollars

($1,000,000,000) in the assets held for future distribution to themselves and their beneficiaries.

After payment, during that period, of more than Four Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars ($450,000,000) by way of dividends to policyholders, the Company's surplus was increased by more than One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000).

These figures, of one company alone, are striking evidence of the reliance which the people of the United States and Canada place on the security and protection of life insurance.

Life Insurance is the most effective and satisfactory means of providing for the future of one's self and one's dependents.

COUNCIL APPROVES AMENDED BUDGET; VETO IN PROSPECT

sanctioning the measure, but Alderman Ellis B. Barrett served notice that he would make a motion for reconsideration at the next session of the board, slated for next Monday afternoon. Key's friends predict that the mayor will veto the measure. Vote in the aldermanic board was seven for passage to five against.

Curtis Scores Schools.

The finance measures were passed after Councilman J. Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward, hit the school department as a political machine, saying that "the sooner the citizens of Atlanta realize that the school department is a political machine and straighten it out, the better it will be for all concerned."

Curtis said that "I am for all of the departments of the city government as long as they function as departments. As long as I am in council I intend to represent the other 70 per cent of the departments also."

Curtis' indictment of the school department followed an excoriation of Mayor Key by Councilman Berman, of the fourth ward, who introduced the amendment providing that the $100,000, representing the 1933 school department deficit, be added to the school allocation.

Berman said that "if we cannot compromise with the mayor, maybe we can compromise with the banks."

Veto of the Berman amendment is expected, as Mayor Key has said that he will not allow the schools to budget against any of the $300,000 contingent fund.

Other Action Taken.

Other actions of city council Monday included the following:

1—Resisted by a vote of 24 to 9 Atlanta police cars or motorcycles from going outside of Fulton, De-

Kalb, Cobb, Gwinnett or Clayton counties on police duty.

2—Adopted a resolution to prevent city employees from assigning their salaries.

3—Approved a proposal by Alderman Bob Carpenter, chairman of the Carnegie library committee, to allow $250,000 to make additions to Carnegie library and to establish two branch libraries, one on the north side and the other on the south side. Prescher declined to state the source of the revenue, but said it will be forthcoming. The aldermanic board disapproved the proposal.

4—Declined to approve a resolution to send Mayor Key, Councilman W. G. Hastings, chairman, and Councilman Berman, vice chairman of the aviation committee, to Washington to urge President Roosevelt to place in force immediately his plan for returning the air mail contracts to private companies. Later council passed the Berman resolution petitioning President Roosevelt to accelerate his program and asking Mayor Key to assist in the matter.

5—Voted to pay Atlanta school teachers their salaries for the last half of January. This measure faces a veto by Mayor Key because the school department has failed to adopt a budget for 1934.

6—Adopted a council ordinance establishing the positions of two new lieutenants in the police department, making 17 in all.

Finance Board Meets.

Council was adjourned in order that the finance committee might draft amendments to the finance sheet and a lengthy meeting of the committee followed.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman, and others insisted that the committee approve a sheet which would re-establish the city's credit and enable the city to pay school employees and merchants. Vote on the finance committee measure presented to council was six for to four against, and the Berman-Tiller amendment then was offered.

Tiller declined to vote for the finance committee measure at the finance committee meeting, insisting that the $100,000 item be allowed, but he was voted down. He held that this would be a sufficient compromise and should satisfy the mayor and the bankers. Gilliam warned that any effort to include any of the $300,000 contingent fund would jeopardize any effort at conciliation.

by and Miss Sarah Roberts, all of Ben Hill.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Mount Gilard Methodist church. The Rev. L. Peacock will conduct the service and interment will be in the churchyard with Sam Greenberg & Company in charge. Mr. Roberts' nephews will be pallbearers.

In Decatur police court Monday, George Stevens, negro, was given 60 days for reckless driving, and John Davis, negro, was fined $3 for disorderly conduct, as the result of an accident Sunday on the Lawrenceville road in Decatur, in which W. P. Nimmons, of Seneca, S. C., and Miss Will Nimmons, his daughter, were injured. Nimmons has fractures of the wrist, hip and ribs, and Miss Nimmons has a fracture of the nose. Both are at Emory hospital. Frank Simpson, Toccoa, whose car was damaged in the triple-car accident, was not injured.

Four persons were injured Monday night while en route to the city of Atlanta, when a taxicab driven by R. M. Campbell, 325 West Mitchell, went into a left turn as Whaley started to pass, according to police reports.

The injured were Mrs. Eula Whaley, of Athens, who was on his way to Columbus, served into a rock wall on Murphy avenue near Brookline street, near a Southern Express truck driven by R. M. Campbell, 325 West Mitchell, went into a left turn as Whaley started to pass, according to police reports.

APPROVAL IS SEEN FOR COTTON BILL

"gratified at the progress the committee is making on the bill."

He declined to discuss the changes made thus far, explaining that some of the questions raised by the amendments "have not been definitely settled."

Questioned about reports that there was considerable opposition in the house, Bankhead said "the only opposition voiced is by a few who are opposed to the principle of the bill, but all cotton interests, the textile manufacturers, cotton growers and others are all for the bill and it will pass the house without difficulty."

"If the bill is not passed, watch what it will do to the price of cotton," he said. "It is the only thing that will really help."

ATLANTA MERCURY WILL DROP TO 12

perature dropped from 74 degrees Sunday afternoon to 28 Monday; in Meridian, Miss., from 72 to 28, and at Vicksburg from 74 to 28. At San Antonio 28 degrees was registered.

The weather bureau said Birmingham would freeze under a low of 12 degrees today and predicted 30 degrees at New Orleans and Pensacola, Fla., with 32 degrees at Jacksonville.

Even far south Miami was due for a big drop, although it would still be comparatively warm at around 60 degrees. Hard frosts were predicted in southern Georgia and Alabama.

The cold originated in Minnesota and the Dakotas and spread rapidly. It was 12 below at Huron, S. D., Monday and 6 below at Minneapolis, at Kansas City it was 2 below.

Heavy Rainfall Here.

Atlanta registered a rainfall of 2.11 inches Sunday. But for the fact that the streams were low, serious flood damage would have resulted. The Chattahoochee showed a rise of 11 feet. The rain area was specially heavy in north Georgia, some stations reporting a greater rainfall than Atlanta, including Dalton, which had 3.54 inches.

At Candler field airplanes were securely tied, but in spite of this minor damage was done by the wind to some of the army mail planes. Monday's mail flights were canceled, and there was some curtailment of passenger service.

Following were the hourly temperatures beginning at noon Monday:

Blizzard in East.

Meanwhile, the weather death tolls throughout the nation climbed to three scores as a blizzard swirled through the eastern states, adding at least six names to the list of victims. Eastern cities battled to prevent another tieup such as was brought "on the dot."

Friendly Counsel
By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondents are asked to name their address in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
Due to athletics I have got behind in my studies at high school and I am trying to persuade my father to let me quit school and go to work. There is not a chance for me to graduate with my class and I am ashamed to go on to the end. Father won't hear to it, says no son of his shall be a quitter with his permission. I have told him that if he will let me go to work now I will go back to school next year and study hard. Don't you think this is a fair proposition? JACK.

ANSWER:
Most educational institutions justify the athletic programs they maintain by the claim that boys learn from sports lessons as important as those learned from textbooks. Chief among these lessons is good sportsmanship, an all-inclusive word, those who have mastered this lesson know: First that we pay for mistakes we make whether they are made through ignorance, indifference, too much or too little zeal; second, that all who are interested in us must pay with us; third, that defeat is sometimes inevitable and must be accepted gracefully if its bitterness is to be sweetened; fourth, that if we run out on any duty or obligation we do not escape it, that we meet it again and, when we meet it the second time we are less able to cope with it than we would have been in the beginning.

Now, my dear young man, you have

"B. C." Relieves
Your Headache
In 3 Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains no narcotics, no habit-forming ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in any short time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—(adv.)

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made
At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce of salt, one ounce of glycerine, one ounce of olive oil, one ounce of Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any drugstore can put this up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the color returns. This is the best remedy for gray hair, making it soft and glossy, will not color the scalp, nor clog pores or greasy and does not rub off.

Quickly Relieves
Pain and Distress
Caused by Arthritis

"During my twenty-five years of business, nothing has approached the success gained by RENTON'S HYDROCOIN TABLETS in the elimination of the pain and distress caused by Arthritis and Chronic Rheumatism. The relief that I have been able to obtain in some instances would be hard to believe if it were not for the actual conditions." So writes a prominent Baltimore physician, Dr. J. H. Taylor, who has had extensive experience with RENTON'S HYDROCOIN TABLETS for Arthritis, Neuritis, Lumbago, Gout, Sciatica, and associated forms of Rheumatism. RENTON'S HYDROCOIN TABLETS are a powerful, safe, and successful prescription for restoring motion to stiff joints and relieving the acute and chronic pain of these conditions. They are endorsed by leading druggists. No matter what other preparations you have taken, how badly you have suffered, you should give RENTON'S HYDROCOIN TABLETS a trial. Ask your druggist, or write Renton, Pasadena, Calif. Do this today:

GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES

NO. 1.—In the same county as Eli, Nebraska, is a town with a colored population during the World War and applied to thousands of our soldier boys. First syllable is slang for money. What's the word?

NO. 2.—A town in Sevier county, Tenn., has a name that suggests the old advertising slogan: "You push the button; we do the rest." Think of snap-shots, films, enlargements, etc.—what is the name of this portable camera?

NO. 3.—In Delmaria, on the Adriatic Sea, is a place with a name that means many in numbers. When you state a price to some folks they invariably reply: "atwa *****." What is this that means too high?

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

An Unwise Choice.

Whether to continue the bidding beyond a game contract or to double opponents who have ventured too far is often a close question with bridge players. A general principle is that if the penalty you expect to collect roughly equals the premium you can score by playing the hand at your own best bid, the penalty should be chosen rather than the premium because realities have a habit of mounting. However, a policy of timidity and the acceptance of a small penalty in lieu of a greater premium is a losing practice, as the hand being played in a team-of-four match, illustrates.

1—This, a free bid, is a sign of certain strength.
2—A rather daring raise on distributional values alone.
3—Showing rebid strength. In view of East's free response West feels certain that the bidding will not die.
4—You will put the same energy and enthusiasm into mastering your lessons that you put into athletics. You can yet graduate with your class. The embarrassment of not standing or falling as your effort decides.

Your father is exactly right in insisting that you stand your ground with your class until the end of the term. In the end stand or fall as your effort decides.

If you will put the same energy and enthusiasm into mastering your lessons that you put into athletics you can yet graduate with your class. The embarrassment of not standing or falling as your effort decides.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
We have made our plans to get married in 18 months or two years. Both of us work and save as much as we can. I want to buy a lot together so when we do get married we can build our home immediately. My fiancée objects to the ground that it is not a woman's place to buy the home. What do you think?

ANSWER:
There are several reasons why you shouldn't undertake a joint investment in real estate. To begin with the man's pride is at stake. Rightly or wrongly he believes that he should be responsible for the house and lot, then let him assume the responsibility. To end with, there is always the possibility that long engagement may be broken before the marriage time arrives. If such an unhappy issue would come you would have created a terribly embarrassing situation in joint ownership of a home. If either of you could afford to buy the other's share in case it had to be sold. One of you would have to sacrifice your equity in the investment and both of you would be mortgaged.

If you must pool your resources, pool them in a joint bank account. Then if fate should send you on separate ways the money could be divided. Better still, perhaps is the plan you are now following: save your money, put it away or invest it separately, and when you are married, pool it. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

LaGrange College.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Feb. 26.—Dramatic club of LaGrange College, under the direction of Miss L. B. Rogers, presented a program at the women's club on Thursday, Feb. 26. The program was a play, "The Missionary to Japan," which was a missionary to Japan, spoke to the students and faculty at chapel Friday on her work among young Japanese.

Miss Mildred Singer, Miss Elizabeth Williams, Miss Mildred Williams, members of the college faculty, presented a program at the young people's conference at Moreland Sunday evening.

4—East has 2-1-2 honor-tricks and a six-card suit, and his partner has opened the bidding and rebid. Even with only two diamonds the hand presents possibilities.
5—South reasons that North must be short of hearts or possibly void in the suit. The bid, however, is extremely strong.
6—The conventional showing of two aces and the king of a bid suit. By inference, it, of course, shows strong heart support.
7—East now signs off by bidding the lower ranking of the suits bid by the partnership.
8—West reasons that any losing clubs in East's hand can be discarded on his long diamond suit and that the only loser should be the spade ace.

In the play, of course, six were made, whereas in Room 1, where the bid of four spades was doubled, a paltry penalty of 100 points was collected. Even had East and West failed to reach the slams they had been much better off had they bid five hearts. The fault, no doubt, lies wholly with West. His own singleton spade, his strong heart support and the fact that he is in the lead by the ace-king, all suggest the possibility of a slam and the practical certainty of being able to make live, whereas the penalty is a disaster from North and South appears insignificant, as, indeed, it was.

Kings that Make
Women More Beautiful

By MIGNON.
It isn't possible to have beautiful hair and not take some care of it. Frequent washing is necessary whether the hair is oily or dry. Dirt is something that one doesn't imagine, and it is necessary to keep your hair clean, just as you do your face.
It is strange, but one of the best things for a scalp massage is one of the easiest and cheapest. It is so simple it will make you smile. If you will, after brushing the hair thoroughly, dip the fingers of both hands into a bowl of ice water and then massage the scalp with the cold fingers, you will find that it will start circulation quickly and without the help of any medicated creams or liquids.

After rubbing the scalp with the cold water fingers, shampoo the hair with hot water. The easiest way to get one of those rubber tubes with an spray on the end, kneel on the bath rug in front of your bath tub, and have at hand one glass into which you have poured liquid soap, and another filled with one-fourth cup vinegar (the plain cider variety) and five cups of hot water.
Pour the hot soap liquid on the hair after you wet it with hot water. Use a third at a time. Rub well and rinse. Three rinsings are enough.
Then pour the hot vinegar liquid over the head and rinse again with clear water. The vinegar cuts the soap suds and you can feel the hair getting soft, as you run it through the hair. The hair has a prettier gloss if you do not rinse it in cold water.

To be held at the church at 10:30 o'clock.

NANCY PAGE
This Hexagon Is Worth a Diamond or Two
BY FLORENCE La GANKE

There is no need for figuring a border arrangement. Just make the quilt as large as desired and then cut off small points so that a straight edge is left for the binding.

The Nancy Page quilt club members sent for the full-size pattern sheet. They cut the picture and directed from the paper and pasted it in the Nancy Page quilt scrap book.

In this way they always had it for reference. And when they were ready to make a new quilt they could thumb over the pages of the scrap book, choosing the pattern they wanted to work up next.

In the directions and pattern leaflet no seam allowance is made. That means that one quarter inch should be allowed on all sides when cutting the pieces. Be sure the pieces are color fast and of good material. Be sure the pieces are cut exact and true. Be sure the seams are started with a firm knot, placed in one quarter inch from the edge and pressed. Be sure the seam is finished one-quarter inch from end of pieces.

A full-size bed requires a quilt which measures 90 by 96 or 100, a three-quarter size 72 by 96 or 100, and a single bed 72 by 96 or 100.

The actual pattern for Diamond Hexagon Quilt design may be obtained by sending three cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Nancy Page in care of The Atlanta Constitution. Back patterns may be secured by sending an additional three cents.

American handicrafts. What home isn't enhanced by having them about? Here is a rug in the simple basket design so popular with rug makers of all times. It is effective made either of yarn or of rugs. Can't you imagine what fun it will be to do the flowers in gay colors against a subdued background. The rug can be made in any desired size for the basket measures about 18 inches in length. This rug design can serve a double purpose, too. The corners can also be used on a set of chair back and seat. Aside from the attractiveness of the design, this rug is made amazingly easy to do by the new illustrated lesson. This shows illustrations of each step in the making of the rug as well as giving color suggestions.

In pattern 5097 you will find a transfer pattern of the basket and the four corners, and the illustrated lesson. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

INSTALLMENT XX.

Charity's first impulse was to scatter money from one end of the block to the other. But she was a business woman and knew a practical way would have to be worked out to help those deserving of aid and sympathy. Several families received baskets of groceries after the tall grave-eyed girl in the lovely gray-green gown and hat had visited them. They didn't know her name. But, like Mrs. Brown, they said an angel must have been sent to them from heaven.

It was after lunch before Charity could bring herself to leave her family. She had been in and out of so many filthy hallways and ill-kept flats that she'd have to go home and bathe and dress before she went to see Mr. Simmons.

At home she learned Doug had not been back, even to sleep. She jumped into her tub and hurried into her clothes. She didn't feel like eating, but made herself take a little tea and toast. She asked Sylvia to call and make sure Mr. Simmons would be in. She didn't want to see him until the lawyer would be delighted to see her about four o'clock.

Charity smiled to herself when she found she had automatically gone to the side door of the Wall Street Trust Company building marked "Employees Only." She had gone in that way so many hundreds of times that it seemed the natural thing to do. Of course, she did not have her old key. When she knocked it was old Pat, the janitor, who opened the door and barred the way with his corpulent figure.

"I'm sorry, miss," he said, without waiting to learn Charity's business. "We ain't got no jobs."

Charity's eyes danced with amusement. Pat didn't know her. She tried to say seriously: "Couldn't I have a job as your assistant? I can sweep and scrub floors."

Pat tried to look stern, but a little smile turned up the corner of his mouth. "Don't go to the corner, miss. I ain't the one that does the hirlin' of the help."

Suddenly Charity threw her arms around the old Irishman and gave him a tight squeeze, saying, "Oh, Pat—don't you know me? How have you been?"

"Foine, Miss Jones—or, I mean Mrs. Temple. Sure and I'm glad to get eyes on you."

He stepped back to survey her the better, shaking his head. "Don't you better, shaking his head. "Don't you look grand, now! Sure I never would have known you in a million years all fixed up like a posy."

Charity grinned when he bent over to whisper loudly, "Come in and burn the tabby cats up—Miss Jones. Just let 'em get a look at the new rig!"

That was an ordeal Charity dreaded. But she knew she could not appear at the bank without going around and speaking to the people she had worked with so long. Pat led the way, not wanting to miss a word of what was said to the new Mrs. Temple.

Charity had worn ashes of roses, her most becoming color. It gave her cheeks a pink glow and made little dark lights dance in her gray eyes that were shaded with a black shadowy veil thrown carelessly over her little rose hat. There were long black gloves against the milk-white of her arms. The Wall Street Trust Company had never seen a more smartly dressed lady within its rich walls.

No one recognized Charity until she spoke to them. Their obvious embarrassment and amazement gave Charity the advantage, so that she went through the greetings with a great deal more ease than she had hoped. Once she had met Miss Jones—the drab little girl who looked after old Temple's affairs. Now, like Cinderella, she had been transformed into a beautiful princess.

It was Pat who walked with Charity to the private elevator that led to the office and gave the bell for her. He could scarcely wait for the door to close so that he might hear what the girls had to say.

Miss Randall, who had taken Charity's place in the office, was surrounded by a group of babbling girls. Pat joined them in time to hear her say dramatically, "It can't be other Joneses! It's a couple of other Joneses!"

A little blonde shrugged her shoulders and said, "I don't know, but with all that money? It's no credit to her."

Every one agreed except Pat. He could not let the former Miss Jones go undressed. He joined the group to say hotly, "Sure, and ye're jealous. Though I can't say I'm blamin' you, but don't be after forgettin' this: Charity Jones was as fine a girl as ever set foot inside this place. Always a lady, she was. Workin' hard and supportin' her father and mother and her own family, she could do it. If she'd put all her earnin's on her back like some I could be namin' around here, you wouldn't be talkin' about her like you are now. You ought to hide your empty heads, you ought."

Pat was breathless when he finished. He would not look back and see the girls something to think about. It was an hour later when Charity stepped out of the elevator with Simmons. They walked through the office, talking seriously and every one wondered what business the new Mrs. Temple had with the lawyer. It must be something important. A divorce, perhaps!

Rafferty was waiting with the car. Simmons helped Charity into the limousine with a personal interest that did not escape her. She held out her hand and smiled happily, as she said, "I'm so glad I've been able to make you see the way I feel about these people."

"It's your money, Mrs. Temple. And there aren't any strings to it." Their business disposition of Simmons hesitated, and Charity was certain she knew what he wanted to know. She smiled.

"And now you're dying with curiosity to know how everything is going in the Temple ménage?"

The lawyer looked surprised. He grinned sheepishly. "You've been reading my mail?"

"We don't scrap any more," Charity told him. "Doug goes his own way. I'm going to be pretty busy from now on if all the plans we made this afternoon work out. So I think everything is going to be all right."

"I'm glad there's a 'true,' Simmons looked relieved. It wouldn't have been so clear for you if he'd gone on the way he was."

"He isn't such a bad ozy," Charity defended her husband. "You can't blame him for being a little upset about having a lemon wed'd to him."

Simmons eyes rested on her with amusement. Then he turned gallantly, and meant it, "You've turned into a—bloomin' Elberta peach—and you're as well aware of it as I am. He'll wake up and see it some of these days, if he hasn't before this."

Color stained Charity's cheeks. As she motioned to Rafferty to start the car, she said, "Don't expect miracles! I'll see you again next week."

Charity hurried back to the penthouse hoping to catch Doug if he came home to dress to go out to dinner. She'd have to offer some explanation for her actions of the evening before.

She was half running back to the private elevator when she saw Catch. He came toward her grinning. "Hello, Nurse, I was just going to call you to see how about a d-mbe date tonight?"

"And what's the big idea?"

"There's a doctor friend of mine in from Chicago. I thought maybe you'd get Billie and we could go to the opening of the casino roof."

When Charity hesitated, "Batch grined again. "It's quite proper—"

Charity remembered what Billie had told her—that she must give Doug a little of his own medicine if she ever expected him to treat her differently. He hadn't even come home last night. She said slowly, "I think that would be lovely. I'll call Billie."

Billie was as much delighted as surprised when Charity telephoned. It meant that Charity was really coming to her senses. That she meant to take Doug at his word when he told her to go her way and do as she pleased. And something told her that Doug wouldn't like it.

It would be Charity's first public appearance since she became Mrs. Temple. Billie felt it was vitally important that both she and Charity look as beautiful as it was possible for them to look. "Don't Park avenue and Broadway would be at the opening of the casino roof. So she told Charity not to dress until she got there."

Billie looked her own gowns over and decided on green with a silver wrap. It was always wise for a red-head to wear green in the evening. Her hair and nails had been done the afternoon before. That was a relief, though it would be just her misfortune to have a little saved-off runt of ninety panned off on her. That was usually her luck.

She was at last thrilled with the idea of meeting a new man, but she was more than a little excited over being with Charity when she made her first night appearance along the Rialto.

Sylvia was brushing Charity's hair when Billie rushed in with, "Ain't I ne plus ultra?" Billie strutted around the room so she could look her over.

"Sylvia stood in open-mouthed admiration at the stunning auburn-haired model. She was thrilled beyond words with the opportunity of seeing Mrs. Temple dressed to go out in the evening for the first time."

"Sylvia has me all worn out," Charity laughed and held up her hands. "She did my nails, gave me a massage and a clay pack, and for the last fifteen minutes she's been brushing my hair to make it shine."

"Doesn't your hair look beautiful?" Sylvia gave the black head a final pat.

"Marvelous," Billie agreed, "but wait till I get through with her. You will see sumpin'! Now what had you planned on wearing?"

"Anything you say," Charity sat back good-naturedly. "You started it—now finish it."

Billie studied a moment. "I'm wearing green. Let's see what would go best with what? White! You haven't worn the white taffeta, have you?"

"Nope, get it, will you Sylvia?" Sylvia came back holding the gown on her arm, her cheeks pink with excitement. "I think you'd better wear it while Billie puts green mascara over Charity's eyes, rouged her cheeks faintly, and carmined her lips. Then they slipped the gown over Charity's shoulders."

Alabama, Florida To Meet Tonight in Tournament Finals

FOXX AND MACK TO TALK TERMS AT SPRING CAMP

American Bat Leader to Confer on Salary Next Thursday.

By Alan Gould.
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26. (AP)—James Emory Fox, the boy buster from Maryland, later to talk salary business this Thursday in Fort Myers, the Florida training camp of the Athletics, with the patriarchal Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy.

Take it from Master Fox, this conference had better result in something more attractive than the reduction to $11,000, already offered to the home run king for his 1934 performance—or else.

Or else, Jimmie said today, he will seriously consider a number of offers that have sprung from the fertile imagination of those seeking to capitalize the boy buster's current dissatisfaction with the A's "new deal."

One of these is a $10,000 offer to become director of a camp. Another and a more fantastic one, is a proposition to turn professional wrestler at $30,000 a year for three years.

WRESTLING OFFER.
"I haven't done any wrestling in some time," admitted Fox, "and I haven't even returned to this offer, sent to me by a Philadelphia promoter, but my reaction is this: If that's the kind of money they think my name and baseball reputation is worth, why should my baseball employer ask me to accept a drastic reduction in salary right after the greatest year I have ever had and at a time when I figure to be in my prime?"

More puzzled than bitter, however, Fox went on: "Things may all be straightened out. I don't know what Mr. Mack will have to say to me when we get together this Thursday and argue it out. I am not threatening now to quit baseball or to say I won't sign a contract, but what baffles me is the apparent attitude of baseball owners in trying to squeeze everything possible out of me. I have never been unreasonable and this is the first time I have ever let out any real squawk, but I certainly believe I have one coming when I'm asked, at the age of 29 and at my best, to accept less than one-third what they are going to pay Babe Ruth at 40 this year. I'll play 154 games, barring accidents, and the Babe will be lucky if he plays 50 games."

LOOKS OUT FOR SELF.
Jimmie took a long breath and added: "To sum it all up, I've simply got to look out for myself. I have the future to figure on and if baseball with the A's can't offer me more than the contract I've got in my pocket now, unsigned, I will have to look into these other propositions. Honestly, I don't think Mr. Mack expected me to accept this contract but I don't know either what's what until I talk with him."

"And there's another angle; with Grave, Cochran and other stars of our championship club gone this year, there is less chance of our club getting into the next World Series and splitting a big chunk of extra money."

Meanwhile the Florida baseball beat has ready-made a first-class salary argument, with Fox doubling for Ruth in the combined role of home-run king and chief holdout of the training season. The Babe's salary part this winter after being the star actor for years.

Druid Hills Girls Are Now in Finals

Druid Hills Methodist girls' basketball team defeated Rogers State, 40 to 5, at Calvary court to advance to the finals in the championship tournament now being played. They will meet the winners of the Alpha Class Inman Park Baptist game in the final Thursday night.

In the boys' tournament, Oakland City Baptist defeated Clarkston, 33 to 32, with Butler, of the victors, and Knight, of the losers, leading the scorers. Oakland City Methodist had little trouble with the Bulldogs, 29 to 19. The Bulldogs' victory was a surprise, as they were considered the underdogs.

Results, tournament, Calvary court, Monday night:

J. P. C. Ends Season With 14 Victories

Joe Bonawitz's crack Jewish Progressive Club basketball team yesterday returned to the city from Birmingham, Ala., where it ran up its fourteenth consecutive victory at the expense of the Birmingham Y. M. H. A. five, winning by a score of 45-23.

It was the Progressives' second win of the season over that outfit. "Pony" Minsk led the J. P. C. scoring with 12 points. The team was coached by Coach Dudley Spielberger.

The Birmingham club made only five field goals.

24 CARDS SIGN.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26. (AP)—The number of Cardinals signed to 1934 contracts reached 24, nine shy of the full roster, when Pitcher Ed Greer and Infielder Bill Myers agreed to terms today. Greer was with Houston last year, while Myers, who played for the Cardinals before, was with Elmira, N. Y.

BREAK O' DAY!

By Ralph McGill

The colored boy behind the table blanched and hurried from the room.

He returned with the manager of the Atlanta Athletic Club. "It's all right," said the manager, "they are football coaches." The boy returned to his place, but he was ready. "Feet," he said, "be prepared."

You see, the water pitcher was down in the floor and Hank Crisp, director of athletics at Alabama, was over it in the position of a football center.

"The left hand," said the major, "should be a dead hand when the center passes the ball. The idea is to let the center get rid of the hand as quickly as possible. The pass from center is just like a forward pass being made upside down."

"Our centers make a few bad passes every year. Tennessee doesn't," said Hank Crisp.

"It reminds me," said Francis King, of the O'Shea knitting schools, "of the fellow who wanted a bow tie tied to his dress suit."

"How was that?" asked Hek Clark, coach at Sewanee.

"This fellow was in a hotel and dressing for dinner," said Francis King. "He couldn't tie a bow tie. So he went out into the hall and saw a man coming out of the next room."

"Say," he said, "will you do me a favor?"

"Sure," said the man, "what is it?"

"I can't tie a bow tie," said the man. "Will you tie it for me?"

"Sure," said the man. "And he came in the room. 'Just lie down on the bed,' said the man."

"The fellow got down on the bed and the stranger tied his tie. When he had it tied the fellow asked: 'Pardon me, but I want to know why I had to lie down for you to tie the tie?'"

"Well," said the stranger, "I am an undertaker and that's the only way I can tie one."

The coaches looked very severely at Francis King.

"The pass from center," said Paul Parker, "is a forward pass upside down."

THE DUCK WADDLE GOT HIM.

This did not disturb the colored boy greatly, although he looked about for an exit.

It was the "duck waddle" that got him.

The talk turned to training linemen. Hank Crisp advanced the idea that too many football men went into games before they were physically fit as to ankles and knees. His idea was they were not as supple as they should be. "The southern players can take more physical punishment but they are not as quick and as agile as the eastern players," he said.

It was then that the "duck waddle" was illustrated. The players squat down and walk in an extreme sitting position. In this position the sole of the pants is near the ground, or floor. And the player waddles along. The exercise develops the legs.

In no time at all the coaches were down waddling. Hek Clark, of Sewanee, was waddling in one corner. Near him was Gordon Clark, the alumni secretary and freshman coach on the mountain. Hank Crisp was in another sector. The coach from Virginia, Mr. Gus Tebell, was waddling. So was Mr. Abe Lincoln, the Sewanee basketball coach. Major Paul Parker was waddling. Francis King got down and illustrated his idea of the waddle.

It was in the dining room just after lunch. And all very serious. The football men get that way now and then.

The room was full of coaches waddling and talking, each defending his idea.

It was then that the colored boy hurried from the room. The manager reassured him.

But he said to his feet, "Feet, get ready."

A CENTER WHO DIDN'T.

Gordon Clark, the Sewanee man, was telling a story about a center who made the All-Southern football team who never passed the ball.

It seemed that the center made the official team, or the one which the football writers' committee selects each year.

"Foxy Kent made the All-Southern team as center and never passed a ball," said Clark.

"What?" yelled this reporter, who is a member of the committee.

"Yes," said Clark, "he played a guard on the offense and center on defense. He merited the place because he was a greater center. But he is probably the only man to make an All-Southern center position who never passed a ball."

The coaches all looked very suspiciously at this reporter. He hastily inhaled a cup of coffee and changed the subject.

A GEORGIA BOY SUFFERS.

A visit to the Vanderbilt basketball team at the Terrace revealed that Bobby Oliver, one of the Valdosta Olivers, was in a serious predicament.

He was being razed no little by the Vanderbilt team. It seems the weather has been bad in Nashville, Tenn.-O-Sec. It usually is. It was O. Henry who wrote that the Nashville atmosphere was one part fog, one part gas leaks and two parts rain, with the consistency of pea soup.

The Nashville Chamber of Commerce has been hurt about this for years. But has never been able to do anything about it.

Bobby Oliver had assured the team from Vanderbilt, of which he is a valued member, that in Georgia, his home state, they would find the sun shining brightly and warm.

They arrived to get two days of rain and then a sub-freezing temperature on Monday.

Bobby Oliver was trying to sell them on the idea that Valdosta was warm. Just then his father arrived.

"It's been warm in Valdosta, hasn't it?" asked Bobby Oliver.

"No, it's been cold," said the elder Oliver.

It was a tough day on the Valdosta Olivers.

FREDDIE RUSSELL ARRIVES.

Mr. Freddie Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner and one of the better newspapermen in Dixie, arrived Monday. Like all basketball fans, he had assumed Kentucky would win the tournament. He awoke Sunday to find the Commodores in the semi-final and hurried to Atlanta. He is a great boy and a fine writer. You may read anything with his name over it and expect to find good writing.

MR. EDWARD STOW.

A newspaper, housed in one building, comes to be one family. That is, a newspaper such as The Constitution becomes such a family. Hence the extreme shock experienced by the paper at the death of Mr. Edward Stow, the secretary and auditor. He was quiet, retiring and modest. But his was a sweet nature and a noble soul. It was a tragedy to all of us.

CARNERA PLANS QUICK KNOCKOUT OF LOUGHRAN

Champion Is on Edge for Title Bout in Miami Ring.

By Edward J. Neil.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26. (AP)—All that can be done apparently has been done for the battle of the fallen arches, the 15-round heavyweight title defense of heavy-treading Primo Carnera against Tommy Loughran Wednesday night.

The war-torn finished battling practice today, the Miami boxing commission picked a pair of judges to officiate with Referee Leo Shea, and Louis K. MacReynolds, chairman of the commission, passed judgment on the snifter reports that Carnera planned to tread with all his 200 pounds upon the challenger's weak arches in a deliberate effort to further his own cause.

"Fighters," said MacReynolds, "must protect their feet just as they do their jaws. There is no foul in stepping on another man's foot in a fight. The other man shouldn't leave his feet where they can be stepped on."

Thus did MacReynolds dispose of the protest of Philadelphia sports writer that Carnera, who broke a bone in George Manley's foot during one sparring workout, and yesterday treated heavily on Ruck Everett, another boxing mate, incapacitating him also, intended to do likewise with Loughran. Carnera has a bone in his right foot that has twice been dislocated. The writers thus insinuated that Carnera was practicing to turn that weak arch into an Achilles heel with his own footwork if the going got rough late Wednesday night.

Carnera did his last preparatory boxing today, working three rounds and part of a fourth with Johnny Miller, of Detroit, in an indoor gymnasium after a downpour of rain soaked his outdoor ring at the South Beach amusement pier. A gust over Miller's right eye, suffered early in the fourth round, brought the boxing drill to a close.

The champion weighed in at 258 1/2 pounds and appeared perfectly on edge. He stressed catching Miller's left jab with his right hand, then countering short and sharply with rights to the head.

"If I don't lick Loughran quickly, I don't deserve to be champion," Carnera said after the workout. "I'll knock him out as soon as I can catch him."

CARNERA COASTS.
While the challenger eased off, in his work at West Palm Beach the ticket sales lagged as the rain flooded down. Predictions of probable gate receipts were scaled down to $75,000. Estimates of the probable crowd in Madison Square Garden's bowl, constructed at a cost of about $25,000 to seat 50,000, run no higher than 20,000. Carnera still is held a 3 to 1 favorite and there will be no broad display of the money, scheduled to start at 10 p. m., eastern standard time.

With the approval of the managers of both boxers, Roy Latham and Colin McCullough, both of Miami, were named by the boxing commission as judges of the title bout. Boxing rules similar to those of the New York state athletic commission, and including a foul regulation, will govern the match.

Loughran closed his boxing preparation at West Palm Beach as confident as ever that he will win the title. He boxed two rounds each with Jack Pettifer, Ace Clark and Ed Hogan, and was particularly careful to avoid the possibility of cut features. He weighed 165 pounds.

Neither fighter plans to do more than keep his muscles loose through light exercise until time for the weighing in Wednesday afternoon.

Cagle Favorite Of 'Biff' Jones As Army Athlete

Captain Lawrence M. (Biff) Jones, Louisiana State University's popular football coach and former coach at West Point, has seen a lot of good backfield men in his day. But he still rates Christian Keener (Red) Cagle, a Louisiana boy, as his favorite of the bunch.

Captain Jones coached at the Point during Cagle's heyday. Cagle, now part owner and star halfback of the Greynix, Bulldogs in the National League, is "Biff's" choice in the way of ball carriers.

"Cagle was a great competitor and ran with great power and speed from any type of formation," Captain Jones stated. "He was the greatest all-around performer we had in the way of backfield men at West Point and one of the best in the country."

Biff pointed out that Cagle was especially powerful on the Army's celebrated off-tackle plays.

Jones, now in his third year as coach of the Greynix, figures that replacing Kent, star center, at Mitchell, a scrappy guard; Pete Burge, an end, and Jack Torrance, big tackle, will be his major problems in spring training and during the fall workouts at L. S. U.

Wild Bill Collins Opposes Sergeant

Wild Bill Collins, the bad man from College Park, told promoters of the Bellwood arena Monday not to worry about providing extra heat for the promised cold snap due today because he was going to generate plenty of heat in his attack on the new bridegroom, Sergeant Harry Nixon, when they meet in the feature match to-night at Bellwood.

Eddie Wagner, another wrestler with a disposition akin to vinegar, will be opposed in the one-hour semi-final by the flash from Panthersville, White Patterson.

Sunday Schools Add Other Teams

Cold weather failed to hold back progress in the Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association for its third baseball campaign and several new teams entered at a meeting held at Harbison & Short's sporting goods store Monday night. Ten teams were already enrolled and prospects are for several leagues. There will be another meeting next Monday night and all city or rural teams are invited.

More Action From Southeastern Front

McPherson, Tennessee, shot them like this against Georgia, but last night Alabama kept him in check and eliminated the Volunteers from the Southeastern conference basketball tournament at the city auditorium. When the above picture was taken McPherson was just before releasing the ball for a goal. A Georgia player is in the foreground. ## INDIAN STARS BATTLE HERE

Wrestling fans Wednesday night will see one of the smoothest men in the game working against one of the wildest, if not the wildest, when Blue Sam Jennings, the big Cherokee brave, meets Chief Chewacki, the Indian terror.

They are matched for a two-hour, free-fall match as the headline of the card at the city auditorium.

Another Indian, Big Chief Tommy Marvin, the wild Osage tribesman, will tackle Karl Davis, former Ohio State football player, in the one-hour match. A short preliminary will open the card.

Wild Man Chewacki has topped over many of the "topnotchers" during his present winter campaign and his wild antics have caused many of the up-and-coming wrestlers to seek refuge with his opponent and the referee out of the ring and then attempt to attack ringsiders who had dared poke jibes at him. Several of the ringside boys have lost hats and shoes by poking jibes at the Indian.

Chewacki really goes wild when in the midst of a tough battle. And that is just what he will get when he goes up against Jennings.

The big Cherokee is a clever, cool-headed wrestler and stands for no foolishness from his opponents. He likes clean wrestling but can make it plenty tough when his foe starts any of the funniness with him. These two should put on a great match.

The Marvin-Davis affair should prove to be a good one. Marvin is well known here, being one of the most colorful and skillful men to appear here in the past couple of years. Davis is a newcomer, but in his last match he showed he knows much about the game.

Tickets for the matches are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters, on Peachtree.

The prospect of a Tennessee-Vanderbilt finale, a desired denouement, faded with the defeat of Tennessee by Alabama. And then the Commodores, lacking that intangible boost from fate, left the gate ajar in the final seconds and left it to the states of Florida and Alabama to decide the title.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS.
The tournament is assured of financial success. The crowd Monday night was an excellent one. This was particularly true when one considered the fact that there was no local team in the semi-finals and also that the weather was miserably cold.

The finals tonight should draw a good crowd. Atlanta has adopted the Florida team. Their defeat of Kentucky ended their hopes for the local team to be always supporters of the underdog.

Mr. Vernon girls meet the Junior Hadassah team in the most promising best game in that division.

Stecher, Campbell Head Legion Card

Al Stecher, kingpin of all light-heavyweight villains, comes back to Atlanta Friday night when Promoter John Bolas, of the Atlanta Post No. 1, the American Legion, resumes his weekly wrestling programs at the auditorium. Stecher meets Joe Campbell, of New York.

"I have made connections with some of the best men in the game now and I intend to bring to Atlanta nothing but the best light-heavyweights," Bolas declared.

The semi-final will be between Leo Alexander, mat coach at Notre Dame, and Charlie Ellen, Boston flash. Under Australian rules, Sergeant Harry Nixon will meet Bull Smith, four 10-minute rounds, and Young London and Floyd Rivers will wrestle two 10-minute rounds.

Joy Quintet Meets Mt. Vernon Tonight

Central Baptist Joy Class meets Mt. Vernon Baptist in a hardwood classic at the Y. W. C. A. tonight as the National league basketball teams meet in their weekly contests. Joy Class leads the league with Oakland City and Mt. Vernon tied at second place. Oakland City meets Epworth Methodist.

And it happened in the city auditorium not so very long ago, Florida, paired with the champion Kentucky five for the second year hand running, had the champions on the ropes and then finished them.

TIDESMEN PUT VOLS TO ROUT IN LAST HALF

Final Score Is 29 to 26; 'Gators Oust Vandy, 24 to 23.

By Jimmy Jones.

A University of Florida basketball team that everybody sympathized with for having drawn Kentucky's mighty champions in their first game, tonight will play Alabama's big red team at 8:30 o'clock in the finals for the Southeastern conference basketball championship.

Playing with the same indomitable spirit that marked their conquest of Kentucky last Saturday, the fighting 'Gators from Gainesville came storming down the floor to the last five seconds of play last night to score a field goal and eliminate Vanderbilt, 24 to 23.

A desperate, hurried toss by Warner, young center, after Jimmy Hughes and Love had wrenched the ball from Vandy and brought it down to him, turned the tide to the lads from the sunny peninsula as the timer's pistol sounded the game end with several staccato pops, leaving the large gallery breathless.

VOLS GO OUT.
Just before this great battle on the board, the University of Alabama puts out a hard-fighting Tennessee team by the score of 29-26 in a game that was not quite so close, but just about as thrilling.

Seldom has a tournament crowd seen two such games in one night. And those who braved the freezing weather to see them were generously repaid for their trouble.

Both games were close and thrilling enough, but the Florida-Vandy affair literally stole the show.

Vandy led, 15 to 13, at the half.

The lead teetered back and forth throughout the last half until a goal by Jim Scoggins put the Commodores in front, 23-22, with exactly 18 seconds to play. Then the Commodores resorted to the doubtful strategy of taking time out. The pressure was on Florida and Vandy had the ball out of bounds.

When play was resumed, Carlous tossed it back in and the Commodores made the mistake of trying for another goal. They whiffed on the shot, downcourt, Curley missed and Florida took the ball off the backboard.

HUGHES PASSES.
Jimmy Hughes, the veteran guard, got it past center and with a skillful display of passing, managed to whip it to Love, the forward, out in front of the basket. The latter was covered and slipped it to the hands of Vandy. The latter pushed it upward and it swished through just as the pistol fired, sounding Vandy's doom and Florida's great triumph.

Thus the lads that were supposedly being led to the slaughter in being paired with Kentucky, became the victors of the evening.

It was a tough loss for Big Josh Cody, the Vandy coach, who has brought many great teams here, including a champion and several semi-champions. But the loss, though, was grinning soon afterward with sad faces.

Young Curley, the little fellow who took the crack at the back in the opening. But he had no need for so doing. The boy played a great game for Vandy, shooting many long shots, and if it hadn't been for him and Jim Scoggins, the score wouldn't have been even close.

So there, little Curley, forget it. WELCOME SHERAR.
Welcome Sherar, Florida's rugged guard and star, well remembered as the versatile lineman of Coach Dudley Stanley's fine football team of last fall, previously had missed two free throws that would have won the game. But the strain was on Sherar, as well as all the players, the game was that tough.

Forward Kinsey kept Florida in the game in a new type of a new type of shot—a high, floating one that sank through the mesh with remarkable accuracy. Meanwhile, Geny, a scorching forward, who later went out on four persons, was making some excellent shooting for the Commodores.

Geny, Scoggins and Curley supplied the scoring punch for the Commodores, although the latter were off on their shots at that.

ANOTHER BATTLE.
The battle between Alabama and Tennessee, Major Britton's surprising victory, was a nip-and-tuck fight, all the way, being tied at 12-12 at the half.

Jim Walker, Hank Crisp's crippled forward, and McLeod, a guard, did some masterful accurate shooting from close range, while Watley and Bauman played splendid defensive ball.

'Gator Coaches, The Alumni Kind, Succeed Quickly

By Jack Troy.

When the University of Florida razed the tumbled down coaching structure a year ago and erected a new edifice in the name of youthful alumni athletic tutors, there was, you may recall, considerable written about the feasibility of the move.

The sweeping change brought back to the campus some graduates who had been away only a few short years and others who still had the old "die for dear old alma mammy" spirit of the athletic fields.

There was speculation as to whether they could command the respect of the players, some of whom they had played with, speculation as to their ability to impart to the players the sports as they had played them.

MANY CRITICS.
Oh, there was a lot of second-guessing, mates. The state of Florida at the time had more Monday morning quarterbacks than a jealous lover has imagination.

Dennis (Dutch) Stanley, one of the greatest of 'Gator ends, came back as head football coach after a rambling career in the pro leagues, as you may recall, considerable written about the feasibility of the move.

Stanley turns out the greatest football team Florida has had in three years. There were five victories, a tie and three losses. The fighting 'Gators upset Auburn just after Auburn had stopped Georgia's unbeaten march.

There were other victories over Stetson, North Carolina, Maryland and Sewanee. There were losses to Georgia, Tennessee and Tech. Well, the critics were left in the lurch. The football season, over, was fairly too much to expect. And so they turned hopefully to basketball to see what might happen.

BASKETBALL.
And it happened in the city auditorium not so very long ago, Florida, paired with the champion Kentucky five for the second year hand running, had the champions on the ropes and then finished them.

Alabama Wins

MANAGER M'GRAW

No. 1---HIS START

John McGraw, age 17, in his first year with Olean.

Jennings, Hanlon (inset).

Iron Man McGinnity

Roger Bresnahan

McGraw and Mathewson in 1904

By WILLIAM RITT,

Central Press Sports Editor.

John Joseph McGraw, the most successful baseball manager of all time, was born in Truxton, N. Y., April 7, 1873. When only 17 McGraw got his first professional baseball job—with Olean, N. Y., in the Iron and Oil league, in 1890. He soon transferred to the Wellsville, N. Y., nine and was purchased by the Baltimore Orioles the next season. Ned

Hanlon, famed manager, was pilot of the Orioles and he built a great team of stars, including Hughie Jennings, Willie Keeler, Wilbert Robinson and McGraw. This brilliant team was in the American association, then a big league. McGraw made his big league bow August 26, 1891. When the Orioles sold him to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1899 he jumped the team and joined the Baltimore club in the new American league. Ban Johnson, league head, appointed McGraw manager of the team. McGraw and Johnson bickered so much that John again jumped in 1902 to the New York Nationals, playing his first game for the Giants that season. McGraw's departure from the American league was a blow to that circuit, because he took a number of stars along with him, including a great battery—Pitcher Joe (Iron Man) McGinnity and Catcher Roger Bresnahan. McGinnity became famous for his ability to pitch—and win—both games of a double-header, and Bresnahan today still ranks as one of the greatest receivers of all time. Shortly after joining the Giants, McGraw was appointed manager and he set about rebuilding the club. Outside of the stars he brought with him McGraw found the Giants a weak team, save for one man, an aspiring young pitcher named Christy Mathewson. Realizing that young Matty had great potentialities, McGraw spent much time coaching him and was rewarded when Mathewson became the greatest pitcher of his time, one of the greatest heroes in baseball history.

FAMOUS GEORGIA ATHLETES

John (Foxy) Knox, Oglethorpe's Great Back.

Frank Anderson, Oglethorpe University's veteran athletic director, can sit down and talk to you by the hour about the famous baseball players that he has coached at that institution. Frank Anderson has been the baseball coach at Oglethorpe since the mind of man runneth not to the contrary, as the saying goes, and he remains the south's most noted instructor in that sport since Kid Clay of Tech, and Bill White, of Georgia, retired from their respective posts.

But there was a time when Frank Anderson also coached the football team at Oglethorpe, if you recall. It was back in '17, '18 and '19—before Walter Elock and Russell Stein and the two Robertsons, Jim and Harry, came to the Peachtree road—jointly to instruct the young men in football maneuvers.

FOXY KNOX. Whenever Frank Anderson speaks of his football coaching days, back when he launched the game at Oglethorpe, he invariably refers to the most brilliant player that he ever coached—John S. (Foxy) Knox.

"Foxy" Knox was one of the greatest backfield men the south has ever produced. It is the memory of his individual brilliance that makes those early years as football instructor unforgettable in the mind of Frank Anderson.

Some good backfield men have followed Johnny Knox to Oglethorpe, men like Adrain Maurer, Natty Campbell, Bob Kilgore, Cy Bell, Roy Sheple and others of fairly recent stamp. But it is doubtful, extremely doubtful, if any of this list ever surpassed the brilliant Knox in deeds of the gridiron.

Johnny Knox played at Oglethorpe in the years of '15 and '16. Frank Anderson coached him those two years, but he played his last season, 1920, under Walter Elock.

"He had one of the most natural hip movements I ever saw," Frank Anderson recalled in speaking of Knox. "And he was one of the best forward passers in the south at that time."

Johnny Knox was a genuine triple threat back if there ever was one. He did all of Oglethorpe's running and passing, in addition to furnishing the team's chief running threat.

JOHN KNOX.

He wasn't so big, he was a very powerful runner.

Knox, a product of Boys' High school, figured in many of the football records of those days. In games against The Citadel and Maryville he returned the kickoff for touchdowns. He ran back another kick-off for a touchdown against Sewanee that year.

"I would like to see Johnny Knox carying behind some of the powerful lines and good blocking that we have today," Frank Anderson, his old coach, stated. "And so would yours truly, having had our imagination properly fired by Frank's descriptive vividness."

Frank says he was a "Saturday afternoon player." Not long ago, Frank Anderson was named head supervisor of Oglethorpe's spring football practice when Harry Robertson resigned. The newspaper boys began digging up stories on his football coaching days and "Foxy" Knox, Oglethorpe's first football hero, is one of Atlanta's outstanding young business men in the insurance field. He will always occupy a very warm place in the hearts of all Oglethorpe alumni.

(Tomorrow: Carlton Y. Smith.)

'Uncle Robby' Recalls Old Days and McGraw

By Jimmy Jones.

While he officially severed all baseball connections with his old teammate when he quit the job of coaching the Giants 20 years ago to become manager at Brooklyn, Wilbert Robinson spoke often and affectionately of John J. McGraw, the little Napoleon, who passed away Sunday.

Robinson left the Giants under somewhat delicate circumstances. He and the fiery McGraw, with whom he played during many great seasons at Baltimore, had a little misunderstanding over the handling of the Giant pitchers.

One of these pitchers was Rube Marquard, with whom Robby had worked very hard in teaching him to acquire control. Marquard, then called the "Big Red" because of his wildness, later became a great star under McGraw. But Marquard, who coached the Atlanta club in 1932, always gave Robby credit for helping him to master control.

Later on, toward the end of his career, Marquard came to Robinson and helped Uncle Robby's Dodgers win the 1916 pennant. He participated in the World Series with Brooklyn that year.

Robby, now president of the Crackers, tells many stories on McGraw. The Orioles were a colorful club and McGraw probably the most colorful player in a galaxy that also included Hughie Jennings, Kid Gleason, Dan Brouthers, Jack Doyle, Willie Keeler, Joe Kelly and others.

PLANS COMPLETE TO KEEP MEET

By Ralph McGill.

A bigger and better basketball tournament instead of the abolishment of the present competition, was assured for 1935, according to reliable information received Monday by The Constitution.

The Southeastern conference, at its annual meeting held last month at Baton Rouge, recommended that the basketball tournament be abolished. There were certain objections, the chief one being the loss of time from school. A minority of coaches objected, claiming that the tournament handicapped the regular schedule in that it nullified the results of schedule play.

TOURNEY WINS. A careful check revealed that a move has been completed which will maintain the tournament. It is believed that the tournament supplies an impetus and an interest which more than outweighs any objections.

Some weeks ago The Constitution stated that a plan to bring together the eight best teams in the Southern and Southeastern conferences would be advanced at the present tournament. Such a plan has been advanced and it is entirely likely that it will succeed. Should it be postponed a year the 1935 Southeastern tournament will be held with eight teams invited and play restricted to Friday and Saturday and Monday instead of the four days as is now the custom. The joint tournament is practically assured for 1935 and failing in that will be on the books for the following year.

At any rate the coaches will recommend that the tournament be retained and the next meeting of the Southeastern conference is expected to take the necessary action.

WILDCATS OPPOSE IT. Kentucky, defeated Saturday night by Florida, is the chief opponent of the tournament. The Wildcats feel that the tournament provides the only standard test. It offers standard officiating, a standard court and standard conditions. Basketball is played on courts which are entirely without standardization. Officiating is never the same. It is too often stained with the "home" influence.

Such a plan would meet with unqualified approval from the basketball fans and officials. While in Birmingham, during the week-end, Joe conferred with officials of that hall club, Buzz Arlett, the Baltimore new outfielder obtained from Baltimore, hasn't signed a contract and the Barons may sign Joe as a protective measure.

Joe Bonowitz, the coach of J. P. C.'s winning basketball team, which has just closed its most successful season in recent years, plans to sign a baseball contract with a well-known minor league ball club soon.

While in Birmingham, during the week-end, Joe conferred with officials of that hall club, Buzz Arlett, the Baltimore new outfielder obtained from Baltimore, hasn't signed a contract and the Barons may sign Joe as a protective measure.

That was one of the few challenges McGraw ever passed up. There was a third baseman named Harry Wolverton who also figured in many colorful clashes with McGraw.

A FIRE EATER. McGraw was always a fire eater and loved nothing better than a good scrap. Robby stated.

Bang! Bang!

Jack Troy, Constitution sports reporter, was honored by the combined gun clubs of the city last Sunday when they presented him with a Browning automatic in appreciation for the splendid work done in covering the sports this winter. Troy's reports have put and shot shooting on the map in Atlanta, according to officials of the clubs. Troy is shown above with his gun.

Bonowitz Confers With Baron Heads

Joe Bonowitz, the coach of J. P. C.'s winning basketball team, which has just closed its most successful season in recent years, plans to sign a baseball contract with a well-known minor league ball club soon.

MAJOR TEAMS BEGIN DRILLS

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—(UP)—With winter's wind whistling through major league ball parks and many diamonds carpeted with snow, preparations officially opened today for the 1934 baseball season which begins April 17.

The world champion New York Giants "jumped the gun" and started training Saturday at Sam Bench, Fla. The Chicago White Sox held their first practice today at Pasadena, Cal. The Cincinnati Reds open activities tomorrow at Tampa, Fla. The Athletics and Pirates are scheduled to open training Thursday.

Within eight days most of the 450 major league ball players will be in camp and all 16 major league clubs will be preparing for two of the most promising pennant races in recent years.

The death of John J. McGraw cast a shadow over the Giants' camp and training activities will be brief until Manager Bill Terry returns from the funeral in New York.

Eleven of the major league clubs are training in Florida this year. Three in California, one in Louisiana and the other in Mississippi. The Giants, who wear the world title this year, after training at Los Angeles, shifted their camp to Miami Beach.

The training camp of each major league club follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Washington—Balt., Miss.
Yankees—Petersburg, Va.
White Sox—Pasadena, Cal.
Cubs—Catalina Islands, Cal.
Red Sox—Lakeland, Fla.
Cleveland—New Orleans, La.
Detroit—West Palm Beach, Fla.
Athletics—St. Marys, Ariz.
Pirates—Palm Beach, Fla.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Giants—Miami Beach, Fla.
Cubs—Catalina Islands, Cal.
Browns—St. Petersburg, Fla.
Cincinnati—Tampa, Fla.
Phillies—Winter Haven, Fla.
Brooklyn—Orlando, Fla.

'GATORS' COACHES SUCCEED FAST

And now Florida is in the finals with Alabama. Ben Clemons, the basketball coach, had not even rambled round the prep leagues before he was called back. He had just finished his athletic career the spring before.

Public To Pay Tribute To John McGraw Today

Funeral To Be Held Wednesday Morning; Baseball Mourns Loss of Great Figure.

By Foster Hailey.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The body of John J. McGraw lay in state tonight in the living room of his suburban Pelham Manor home, where tomorrow the baseball fans who followed his career as leader of the New York Giants for 30 years will be allowed to say a last farewell.

So many requests had come to Mrs. McGraw that the public be admitted to pay its last respects that she decided to throw the McGraw home open to them all day tomorrow.

In the meantime, final plans for the funeral Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's cathedral were completed and a list of over 60 personalities of baseball, the stage and New York official life named as honorary pallbearers.

The solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Vincent De Paul Mulry, pastor of the Pelham Manor church, where McGraw worshipped for the last few years, and the full choir of St. Patrick's will chant the responses.

FAMOUS FRIENDS. Most of those named to sit as mourners were long-time intimates of the dead baseball leader, among them representatives of all the National league clubs, George M. Cohan, Sam Harris and De Wolf Hopper, of the stage and the Lambs Club, of which McGraw was a member; John McCormack, the Irish tenor; Edward Mulrooney, former New York city police commissioner and in other days in charge of the police; league secretary, William H. Terry, who succeeded McGraw as manager of the Giants in 1932, is on his way north from the Giants' training camp at Miami Beach, Fla. Mourning with him as "honorary" official family will be President Charles A. Stoneham, Treasurer Leo J. Bondy and Assistant Secretary Edward T. Brannick, who had been associated with McGraw during the last 30 years with the club and looked on the fiery former manager as a father.

KEPT AWAY. Because of the raging snowstorm which piled up huge snowdrifts in the blizzards and interfered with railroad and automobile travel there were few callers at the McGraw home but messages and telephone calls of condolence continued to pour in from all over the world.

A few old friends kept mournful vigil with the widow over the remains. Candles burned near the casket and a crucifix was clasped in the hands. Tributes to McGraw continued to come from baseball leaders, even those who disagreed bitterly with him many times during his stormy career, yet never lost their respect for him as a man.

Stephen W. McKeever, veteran leader of the Brooklyn Dodgers and himself only recovering from a severe cold, paid McGraw a "square" tribute and said he planned to attend the funeral despite his doctor's orders.

Conrad Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, said McGraw was one of baseball's greatest players and managers and a fine friend.

Vol Stars Hold Lead In Tourney Scoring

By Roy White.

Scoring records have been thrown into the discard and individual scoring ability has been overshadowed by teamwork so that none of the Alabama players in the finals of the Southeastern Conference tourney tonight at the city auditorium are within the first six.

Tennessee players claim the top three places and another Vol star is tied for fifth place. McPherson tops the list with 25 points, Stanford followed with 21 and Anderson has 17 points for third place.

SHUTE WINNER OF TAMPA OPEN

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—An eight on No. 11, the result of a mixture of duffer's golf and ill fortune, knocked Horton Smith, the tall blond from Oak Park, Ill., out of $150 and the 1934 Gasparilla open championship at Palma Ceia here today.

The same eight brought to Denny Shute, the slender, dark-haired British open champion, the $500 first money and his second Gasparilla title via a play-off in as many years.

Shute toured the course in 36-34-70, exactly par, and defeated Smith by two strokes in a weird match that saw both jump from the sublime to the ridiculous with hardly a hole between them.

Smith, even with his eight, posted a 34-38-72 and took the second place purse of $350. In addition, each collected additional $75 for participating in the play-off after the tournament closed.

Emory Lawyers Tied by Freshmen

With only one more round of play left in the intramural tournament at Emory, the Lawyers and Freshmen are tied for the leadership with 10 games won and three lost.

The Freshmen have beaten the Lawyers twice during the season. The Lawyers are scheduled to oppose the Meds while the Freshmen take on the Theologs. The Juniors meet the Graduates, and the Seniors

TARZAN THE INVINCIBLE No. 152

Both Kitembo and the headman agreed to guard the secret, but within half an hour every man in camp knew that the sentry had been shot with an arrow that had been left behind in the camp. To a man, they were convinced that demons pursued them.

Yet they need not have concerned themselves so greatly, as the cause of all their apprehension was moving rapidly through the jungle, miles away from them. Another force, that might have caused them even greater anxiety lay still far away upon their very trail.

Around tiny cooking fires squatted a hundred black warriors, whose white plumes nodded and trembled as they moved. They were a cheerful company, veterans of many expeditions and, like all veterans, they took advantage of every opportunity for relaxation.

These men had just finished their evening meal, and were teasing and caressing a little monkey in rough but good-natured play, when a figure, materializing as though out of thin air, dropped silently into their midst from the branches of a tree.

ATLANTA ARTS TRIO PLEASES AUDIENCE OF MUSIC LOVERS

An enthusiastic crowd of music lovers Monday night greeted the Atlanta Arts Trio and Mrs. Benjamin Elias, soprano, featured artists of the musical presented at the clubroom of the Studio Club by Mrs. Mason Lowance, chairman of the music group, with Geraldine Edgar Ziegler, pianist, and the evening's program, Mrs. Elias opened the program with a rendition of "Israel," words by Edgar Allan Poe, music by Edgar Stillman Kelley, using her soprano voice of power and richness in an intellectual interpretation. Later in the program she delighted her audience with a group of negro spirituals, "Go Down, Moses," "Noddy Knows" and "I Want to Be Ready," catching the spirit of the devout negro worshipper in admirable vocal style.

The Atlanta Arts Trio—as individuals—Geraldine Edgar Ziegler, pianist; Priscilla Warren Loemker, cellist; and Isabel Mawha Bryan, pianist—divided their ensemble long enough for Mrs. Ziegler and Mrs. Loemker to treat the audience with a group of solos each, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan, and then reunited their talents for a skilled and finished performance of the entire "Trilogy in G Minor" by Smetana. Their work, individually and as an ensemble, again bespoke the high artistic merit that it has always deserved.

Hosts and hostesses for this event were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Allan, Dr. and Mrs. Mason Lowance, Mrs. Cleveland Zahner and Miss Helen Muse. Andrew Fairlie is president of the club.

THREE MEN NAMED FOR POLITICAL JOB LEFT BY MCCOY

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 26.—(AP) The democratic executive committee of Brooklyn, meeting today to elect a successor to the late John H. McCoy, selected a triumvirate to share the leader's powers and adopted a resolution endorsing President Roosevelt and Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

The triumvirate plan was drafted at a conference last night between Postmaster-General James A. Farley and Congressman Thomas H. Cullen. It represents a compromise between the administration forces and the faction which was generally regarded as favorable to a continuance of McCoy's alliance with Tammany Hall.

The three men who will take over the reins McCoy dropped are Frank V. Kelly, public administrator, whose single-handed accession Farley had been represented as determined to block; Francis J. Sinnott, President Roosevelt's appointee to the Brooklyn postmaster's office and Farley's first choice for leader; Thomas E. Wozan, deputy register and veteran Bay Ridge district leader, who has been attempting to pacify the two factions.

Bridge Bids Sought.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The state road department today advertised for construction of the new $1,500,000 61-2-mile long bridge across Apalachicola bay on road 10 in Franklin county. The bridge is a major link in the Gulf Coast highway. The bids will be opened March 22.
